Ryan Ciminelli Wins GoBowling.com Viper Championship for Third 2015 PBA Tour Title

Victory puts New York left-hander into contention for 2015 PBA Player of the Year honors

RENO, NV — Ryan Ciminelli of Cheektowaga, N.Y., became the Professional Bowlers Association's first three-time winner in 2015 when he defeated Thailand's Kim Bolleby, 237-201, to win the GoBowling Viper Championship at the National Bowling Stadium and put himself into contention for 2015 PBA Player of the Year honors.

The Viper Championship, presented by Xtra Frame, was the second of four "animal pattern" championships contested during the GEICO PBA World Series of Bowling VII presented by Silver Legacy. The finals aired Sunday on ESPN.

Ciminelli, 29, jumped out to a 33-pin lead on the strength of three strikes and a spare while Bolleby opened in his fourth frame, and Ciminelli never gave Bolleby a chance to get back into the game.

Ciminelli got a measure of revenge over newly-crowned PBA World Champion Gary Faulkner Jr. of Memphis, Tenn., with a 245-225 victory in the semifinal round while Bolleby eliminated PBA Tour rookie Jakob Butturff of Chandler, Ariz., 222-181, in the other semifinal match.

All four players are left-handers. It was the first all-lefty field in a PBA Tour event since 2007.

Ciminelli saw his dream of a third consecutive PBA Tour title and a second major win in 2015 when he lost to Faulkner, 247-237, in the Rolltech PBA World Championship finals on Dec. 17, so he knew a win in the Viper Championship was important if he wanted to challenge Australia's Jason Belmonte in the Player of the Year chase. Belmonte, the 2013 and 2014 Player of the Year, staked himself to a big lead earlier in the year when he won the USBC Masters and Barbasol PBA Tournament of Champions, both majors.

"That was the hardest show I've ever been part of, knowing Player of the Year was on the line and I had to have this win," Ciminelli said of the Viper finals. "I knew I had another chance after the World Championship even though that one was heartbreaking. I felt like I bowled one of the best games of my life in that one, but this was do-or-die."

"My legs were jello," he added. "I was comfortable where I was playing the lane, but I was using a new ball and it didn't feel quite right. I just kept it in play and fortunately (Bolleby) didn't shoot a big game against me."

Ciminelli believes his third win will make a big difference in the PBA Player of the Year voting, which will take place early in January.

"I think three titles says a lot, with one of them being the U.S. Open," he said. "I think I had some votes before this one, but now I think I deserve it. It's something I never thought I'd have a chance to win, so when you get the chance, you have to seize it. It could be 10 years before I ever have another chance."

"Belmo and I talked about (POY) yesterday, and he told me I would be deserving if I win, and I feel the same about him. I think he's the best in the world, but if he doesn't win again this year, he'll probably win it again next year. I told him, 'Hey, bro, I just want one.'"

PBA World Series coverage on ESPN continues with the finals of the PBA Chameleon Championship presented by HotelPlanner next Sunday at 10 a.m.

The first all-international final in PBA Tour history will feature England's Stuart Williams vs. Sweden's Jesper Svensson and Germany's Pascal Winterheimer vs. Denmark's Thomas Larsen in the semifinal round. The two winners will bowl for the Chameleon title.

Mike DeVaney is Top Citrus Belt Competitor at PBA World Series of Bowling

by Frank and Therese Weiler

RENO, NV - Another year and another successful performance by Mike DeVaney. For seven consecutive years now Mike has been the top overall Citrus Belt and CALIFORNIA competitor at the PBA World Series Of Bowling.

Mike's best performance this year was on the Scorpion pattern where he finished in twenty fifth place. While he cashed ($600) he missed the cut to match play by just three pins. After nine games of qualifying PARKER BOHN beat Mike out for the final match play position with a pin fall of 1,997 (221.8 average) to Mike's 1,994 (221.5). Parker went on to make the Scorpion television show.

Mike also finished in the top third of the field in the Chameleon, Cheetah and Viper championships finishing the World Series with a 212 average and seventy-seventh overall finish in the World Championship standings.

This season's PBA World Series commenced with 254 entrants and then the World Championship field was cut to sixty-one players after thirty-six games. Each entrant had to bowl nine games on each animal oil pattern. Mike missed the World Championship cut to match play by a mere 47 pins after 36 games. That is just 1.3 pins per game!

RAY COBB (Highland) and MICHAEL DURAN (Banning) were the two other Citrus Belt entries in this years event. Both had good stretches but missed the cuts. Congratulations to Mr. DeVaney for a great performance and his demonstrating again why many in this area consider him our best current bowler.

Here's a Laugh-Out-Loud Flick to Watch During the Holidays

by Fred Eisenhamme

So you’ve been struggling with your bowling game and feeling down because of it?

And you don’t know what can pull you out of your slump?

Lose that bad attitude – here’s a way to get back on the ball and dig out of those doldrums.

Look no further than your neighborhood DVD store where you can rent “Kingpin,” a 1996 laugh-out-loud slapstick bowling film starring Woody Harrelson, Bill Murray and Randy Quaid.

Yes, this fun flick promises to get your mind out of the gutter – and off your bowling scores.

Better than cult bowling favorite “The Big Lebowski” (in my opinion), “Kingpin” comes highly recommended by the late Gene Siskel, who put it on the list of the 10 best films of the year.

And I can assure you: This movie packs a punch, and it will, excuse the pun, bowl you over with laughs.

Kidding aside, the movie features Ray Munson (Harrelson), a bowling prodigy who wins the 1979 Iowa state amateur title and plans to compete on the Professional Bowlers Tour. Early on, Munson suffers a devastating setback to his dreams.

Rendered unable to bowl, Munson finds another way to succeed in the bowling world. That may be a lesson for all of us – when things are going bad, perhaps we need to change our plan and get back on course.

And don’t forget to laugh along the way.

“Kingpin” is a laugh-out-loud movie that was released almost 20 years ago.

53RD ANNUAL SO-CALIF. DEAF BOWLERS SINGLES CLASSIC AT KEYSTONE JAN. 9

NORWALK — Southern California Deaf Traveling League’s parent organization So-Calif. Deaf Bowlers is hosting it’s 53rd annual Singles Classic at Keystone Lanes on Saturday January 9. This first deaf singles classic of the 2016 year will have choice of three squads starting at 12 noon, 2 PM and 4 PM with entry fees of $45.00 per squad bowling 4 games across 8 lanes.

This event is open to deaf or hard of hearing male and female members of deaf organizations and bowling leagues with current USBC cards. Hearing relatives of deaf bowlers with current USBC cards may enter.

This is a handicap tournament with 80% of 220 and 140 average min. for men and 90% of 220 and 125 average min. for women. New entrants must bring highest book average of January 1, 2016 or January 1, 2016 league sheet. All who have won $600 or more in the last 12 months must report scores and winnings for possible re-rate prior to bowling.

There will be Special Bird Prize of $25.00 on the 2 PM squad for high 4 games handicap score one each to man and woman. Also men and women may enter optional highest scratch game prizes for $5.00 extra per squad.

Last year’s winner was a 153 average bowler from So. Calif. Deaf Traveling League, Paul Taffolla, Jr. who had his finest time rolling more than 30 pins over his average each game with 196-185-200-187 for 868 plus 196 handicap for 964. Jeff Stansell placed second with 914.

DEAF TRAVEL LEAGUE START NEW YEAR 2016 AT COVINA BOWL ON JAN. 10

COVINA — Southern California Deaf Traveling League will start it’s second half season on Sunday January 10th at Covina Lanes. New leader Eagle Rock will be against Darrell Stogryn’s Chino Hills, Second Place Bob Jones’ S.F. Valley Faces Ed Abakumoff’s Riverside and 3rd place Robert Audette’s Mid City goes against Gorman Low’s Anaheim.

Remembering Jun Reyes

June 4, 1946 -- Dec. 1, 2015

by ABTA Director Bob Smith
Jun Reyes a friend of many, passed away last Friday due to a lengthy illness at the age of 69.

Jun was born/raised in the Philippines and moved to California as a young man. He was married to Cynthia and they had/raised three sons, Jon, Brian and Jeff.

He served in the Military in the U.S. Navy/Retired. Bowling became a big part of Jun's life, and encouraged his sons to bowl in their early years. All three became great bowlers, and Jun was so proud of them. All three are ABTA Champions but above all, all three are fine Young Men/Gentlemen with respect for all.

I met Jun in the early 90's at Sequoia Lanes/ Buena Park where his sons, Jon, Jeff, and Brian were beginning their bowling careers as youths. In fact ABTA, was the first ever tournament organization allowed to bowl in Sequoia Lanes, and his son Jon was the initial champion there at Sequoia.

I have had the immense pleasure of knowing this man for many years and it will be strange not to be able to see him again. He was usually at the ABTA League where he watched his sons perform and enjoyed the competition of the bowlers. I talked to him every week there, he enjoyed the camaraderie.

He will definitely be missed by all who knew him, including this writer. Yes, he was proud of his sons and family, and I can attest that all three are as fine of young gentlemen that you will ever meet. They are well known in ABTA where they have all won Championships, but as said, more important, fine Men!!

Jun, we are fortunate to have known you. God Bless!

Saturday 1:00-2:30-4:00 & 6:00 PM Semifinals 8:00 PM

WEST COVINA — The Christmas Event at West Covina Lanes was a lot of fun for our members. We saw 150 entries come out to support the ABTA and enjoy the Christmas season finale. Gifts and Prizes were as usual given out by raffles to our wonderful members who are the best.

We had a semi tough shot for the tournament making the cut scores of +78 for the men and +33 for the women. The Super Seniors added to the board (2 men and 1 female) were Bert Pamintuan +77, Howard Smith +55 and Kerry Lucka +28. Super Seniors are men 63 and over and for the women you just need to be a young 55. That would give us 34 bowlers making it to the semi-finals this week.

Our top qualifier for the men was Kenny Kwan with a +158 and for the women it was Emily Yeung+84. They will get a paid entry into a future regular ABTA event. Each week our top seed draws the Match Series and this time it was worth $1,290 and Mr. Kwan drew an UN matched 436. We had no bowlers match this score so we will estimate the Match Series at $2,300 at Cal Bowl event. Emily drew for the Mystery Doubles and a $2,570 pot and again no match. She drew a 443 so we estimate the Mystery Doubles at $3,400 at Cal Bowl. The last bowler for the 3-6-9 roll off this week was Romeo Borillo and he missed shot #3 and got a $100 consolation and the pot will go for $600 Saturday!!

The semi-finals took the floor and the leader was Kmel Cunanan at +82, right behind at +77 was Freddy Zamora who will sit out round one of the Single Elims and enter in Round two or top 9. Kmel, our top seed in semi-finals had the honor of drawing the Match Game worth $3,370 and he drew an UNmatched 200 and we estimate the Match Game at $4,500 Saturday.

This would bring us to our top 16 Match Play finals. In the first round, the seven losers were Andy Yu, Giang Huynh, Regina Chung, Tri Vo, Tom Mazzulla, Howard Smith and Deborah Sanders. They received checks of $100 each. In the second round, losing were Mark Anthony, Samson Kong, Jaimee Pamintuan and Michael Duran. They received checks of $105 each. This would get us down to the top five bowlers. In this round we saw Joselito Ramos and Freddy Zamora lose out in 4th and 5th places and $115 each.

Our semi-final match was all set, Emily Yeung vs Chris Marquez for the right to bowl Cunanan for the title. Chris wins a close one with Emily finishing 3rd and $200 with Chis on to the title game vs Kmel Cunanan.

The title game was set and what a match as they were close the whole game. Marquez needed a double to win. He got strike #1 in 10th and spared. They tied at 216 including handicap. So we are to have another FULL game roll-off for the title. In an another close game both bowlers were on their mark. Kmel put pressure on Chris early as he spared and a five bagger. Chris answered spare, double and after 6 frames he trailed 40 pins. But never say die Chris then zeroed in on a four bagger in frames 6-7-8-9. We had a game going to the final frame. Chris needed another strike in the 10th to win and fell just short leaving a going away 4pin and a 250 game including handicap. Kmel wins it with a 254. He would take home $1,000 for 1st place, $100 for wearing an ABTA shirt for the win. Finishing in 2nd place for $500 was Chris Marquez.

Champion Kmel is from Anaheim and used a Low Player drilled by Ramon Torres at Carter Bowl. He is married to Mia with sons Adrian and A.C. He would like to thank his wife for all her support and the staff of the ABTA.

Chris Marquez hails from Whittier and used a Black Ops drilled by himself. He is single ladies. He and his father and brother Anthony have been ABTA members for many years esp George:-) Emily Yeung is from South Pasadena and used a RAVE drilled by former ABTA member David Yamaguchi. She is married to one of the Good Guys Andy, who she thanks for his support and utmost support from Father Michael. We had drawings for many Xmas Gifts/Prizes. The weekly ball sponsor winner of a 900 Global Ball was Mien Barcelona and Ricardo Baca was Grand Prize Winner of a Magnavox 32" Smart TV.

Each time you bowl, you get a free ticket for this prize given away by our Sponsor, 900 Global.

This week we have a Special Two Day (Friday eve, and Saturday (Day) event at CAL BOWL. Qualify on Friday at 5:00 & 7:00 PM. Separate Qualifying Board each day. 1 in 6 make the board Friday and Saturday. See our ad for address and directions or check our website www.abta1.com to link to address for directions.

It's history folks as Kmel Cunanan enters the archives as our latest champion. Hope to see you at Cal Bowl! Thank you for being an ABTA member until then! HAPPY NEW YEAR TO ALL OF YOU. THANK YOU. GOD BLESS.

I ( BOB ) regret that I was unable to attend the Christmas Event due to a very sever head cold, impossible to go there. First time I missed XMAS event in 37 years. I will be at CAL. See YOU there and thanks for the memories over the years (they are Priceless). Until CAL take care. See you there!!!!

The PBA Meets The "FASHION POLICE"

by Frank Weiler

RENO, NV — What would JOAN RIVERS (comedian) and JOHNNY WEIR (skater and fashion designer) have to say about today's PBA stars and their wardrobes? Are today's professional bowlers hip or not?

From what I'm told mixed matching colors are in and plain is out. So how do today's PBA stars stack up according today's "FASHION POLICE"? Let's take a closer look at the bowlers who competed on the Cheetah Championship television show. I will give you my and my wife's opinion and then tell you what Joan Rivers and Johnny Weir probably would say about our PBA stars.

In my opinion England's PAUL MOOR was the best dressed PBA bowler on the Cheetah Championship TV show. From head to toe he was in black with big, bold white letters spelling his last name on his back. If he added a tuxedo jacket he could attend a Presidential dinner party.

While Moor's look is my favorite and may be the best I've ever seen on television some might feel that a few minor changes could be made to add a little pizzazz. According to these critics a white belt and white shoes or white collar and trim are all touches that would make Moor's ensemble memorable. I don't agree.

My wife, Therese, isn't a fan of Moor's formal look and felt he should have added touches of red to his black and white ensemble. Maybe a red collar or buttons. Again, I disagree. His classic pure black look was stunning.

My sources tell me that Rivers would take my side. She always said that when wearing black “less is more” and one should limit one’s ensemble to one accompanying color. While white is preferred some of the other acceptable colors are red, yellow or orange. I believe an entire wardrobe of black enhanced with the aforementioned colors would be memorable and gain any bowler a reputation. We need our own “MAN IN BLACK”. Bowling needs it’s own Johnny Cash. A good guy with a tough side and an edgy past. The perfect look for PETE WEBER.

If Weber isn't interested, I suggest someone else make a name for themselves as the "Man In Black" by wearing all black. While black letters on black might be difficult to read at first, before long everyone would know your name just because of the all black ensemble.

So what would Johnny Weir think of Moor's outfit? "BLAH"! Too bland. Johnny prefers bright colors with a preference for all shades of pink and fuchsia. Johnny's friend TARA LAPINSKY, fellow skater and critic, loves bright colors on herself but prefers her men in classic, conservative ground shades. She would prefer to see Moor in earth tones, matching his hair and coif.

My second “best” wardrobe choice of the Cheetah finalists is NORM DUKE’S baby blue jersey embossed with white letters and black trousers. Norm’s ensemble made Him easily identifiable to the television audience, especially those fans not familiar with the current crop of PBA stars.

While I would have preferred to see Norm in a darker blue jersey with those black trousers or navy blue trousers with his baby blue shirt, his look was fine. Norm's signature black leather belt with silver metal trim is posh but better suited for ensembles dominated by dark tones.

Duke's get-up wasn't one of Therese's favorites but she did give him a passing grade. Her suggested changes include dark blue trousers accented with a red belt and shoes. She also thought designer jeans would be great if they are PBA "SANCTIONED". Joan would be agreeable.

I believe Weir would have an entirely different take. He would prefer Norm in earth tones because his hair and skin coloring dictate woodsy pastels. Weir would love to see Norm strut his stuff in a beige jersey and bark brown trousers. A matching beige belt and shoes would be “STRIKING”. A shirt collar with a fringe of bark brown thread would add a stunning touch. Other acceptable colors include shades of green and tan, but “SPARINGLY”.

My third wardrobe choice of the Cheetah finals was PARKER BOHN'S multi-colored jersey and black trousers. His jersey featured green and yellow streaks on a white backdrop with the colored streaks dominating the white. His name was prominent and easily read. Name recognition is important to fans and Parker's lettering is the best I've seen on today's multi-colored jerseys.

While black trousers match well with most every jersey color, when a bowler wears a multi-colored shirt I prefer trousers in the predominant color of the shirt. I would have preferred Parker in dark green trousers. Therese agrees with me and I'm sure Joan would. Not Johnny.

Weir would love Parker's jersey but not his trousers. While Johnny would agree that trousers with dark colors were more appropriate than black his preference would be livelier. Johnny's probable choice: trousers the exact color and pattern of Parker's shirt. I'm sure ERNIE SCHLEGEL and GUPPY TROUP would agree with Johnny.

ANDREW CAIN'S ensemble is my fourth wardrobe choice of the show. His multi-colored jersey was too busy and swallowed up the lettering on his back. The shirt favored shades of dark blue which made his choice of a black belt and trousers acceptable but not exciting. Therese agrees with my assessment.

While I am sure Joan Rivers would agree with us I am just as sure that Johnny Weir would not. While Johnny would love Andrew's use of multi-colors he surely would want Cain to go with lighter shades of those colors and matching pants.

To sum up, I prefer solids while the ladies and Johnny lean towards multi-colors. Since PBA rules (as far as I know) do not preclude the use of any particular colors or designs it is time for players to develop their own identities. It will be good for the PBA if there is a “Man in Black”, more “ARGYLE ASSASINS” (MICHAEL FAGANS) and more KYLE TROUPS.

I love Pete Weber's edginess and Kyle Troup's posh threads. Individuality, outrageousness and controversy are what the PBA needs more of. MORE ATTITUDE, MORE PIZZAZZ, and MORE NOTORIETY means more ratings, more profits and more prize money.

Here Comes Bowling Standout Chris Paul

(Who Also Plays Basketball)

by Fred Eisenhammer

CALABASAS – Don’t be surprised if you happen to run into L.A. Clipper point guard Chris Paul at a neighboring San Fernando Valley bowling center.

There’s a good chance that particular bowling center will be AMF Woodlake Lanes in Woodland Hills.

The Los Angeles Times reported that Paul, an eight-time NBA all-star and avid bowler, has purchased an estate in a guard-gated community in Calabasas, just west of Los Angeles.

Paul will have Khloe Kardashian as his next-door neighbor and one of her sisters, Kourtney, will be around the corner. Paul paid $8.995 million for the Mediterranean-style two-story home, which comes with a resort-style swimming pool and tennis court, according to The Times. Three years ago, Paul bought the Bel-Air home of singer-songwriter Avril Lavigne.

Several Kardashians have made frequent visits to Woodlake Lanes to bowl so it figures Paul might do the same. Perhaps Paul will accompany his Kardashian neighbors to Woodlake Lanes.

It would take Paul just minutes to travel to Woodland Hills from Calabasas . . . or he could travel 10-15 minutes longer and wind up at Corbin Bowl in Tarzana or Winnetka Bowl. Paul might face a difficult choice here. He’s a skilled veteran bowler so he might have to decide between the party atmosphere of Woodlake Lanes and the more competitive and serious atmosphere at Corbin Bowl and Winnetka Bowl.

In an interview with ESPN early this year, Paul said “I’ve never bowled a 300. That’s my goal. If you bowl a 300, you get a ring. If you win a [basketball] championship, you get a ring so it’s kind of ironic that I ain’t got neither one of them.”

He added that bowling is his “other passion. Some guys have other hobbies but I’ve been bowling since senior year of high school. That Christmas my mom and dad got me a bowling ball that looked like an ABA basketball – it was red, white and blue. They got my brother a bowling ball that looked like a regular basketball. I just love bowling. My family bowls all summer long.”

Paul took up bowling while he was growing up in North Carolina and he maintained his ties with the sport through his days at Wake Forest and with the New Orleans Hornets and Clippers.

On Feb. 23, Paul will host his seventh annual fund-raising bowling event – the 2016 CP3 PBA Celebrity Invitational. It will take place at Lucky Strike LA Live in downtown Los Angeles and will feature an all-star list of Professional Bowlers Assn. Tour players and celebrities.

Perhaps a couple of Kardashians might be invited. That could be a good way for Paul to curry favor with his new neighbors.

PBA League Finally Relents, Selects 2 Women Bowlers

by Fred Eisenhammer

To heck with charisma.

To heck with fun.

To heck with glamour.

To heck with entertainment.

That’s been the Professional Bowlers Assn. League’s posture about employing women bowlers on its teams since the circuit began operations in 2013.

But the league has finally awakened from its longtime slumber and its self-defeating policy. On Dec. 17 in Reno, Nev., the league conducted its 2016 draft to add the final two players for each of its eight teams, leaving each squad with five players for the league’s fourth season.

And lo and behold, look who was selected – two women . . . finally!

The league has never had as many as two women bowlers in its previous three seasons – and typically has none.

Two rounds were held and both women – Liz Johnson of Cheektowaga, N.Y., and Danielle McEwan of Stony Point, N.Y. – were taken in the final round. The round doesn’t really matter; the fact that they were taken and are part of the PBA League does.

Kelly Kulick showed how far women have come when she turned back Chris Barnes in the finals to win the 2010 PBA Tournament of Champions.

for their skill. They have the potential to add an element to the game that is sorely lacking during ESPN’s telecasts of league matches.

The competitions and telecasts, frankly, have generally been dull – even with such greats as Jason Belmonte (of the Los Angeles X), Pete Weber (of the KingPins) and Barnes taking part. The inclusion of Johnson and McEwan finally gives the league some Woman Power and the two bowlers promise to deliver a charge of electricity to a league that needs a jolt of energy. Johnson and McEwan certainly will be in the spotlight and they’ll face considerable pressure. But the two are used to it. And should they happen to make an impression that impresses, who knows what the league would do next?

Is it possible the league could work up enough nerve to launch an all-women’s team?

Here’s betting that Johnson and McEwan might have some female company in future years if things work out – as I expect they will. Johnson and McEwan actually were just two of three women eligible to be drafted among more than 60 players who formally announced their desire to be considered. Missy Parkin of Laguna Hills was also among the eligibles. The 33-year-old Parkin was the first woman to win two PBA regional titles (Kelly Kulick also has won two.) and won the 2011 United States Bowling Congress Queens title.

Johnson and McEwan also sport strong credentials. The 41-year-old Johnson won this year’s AMF U.S. Women’s Open in September, successfully defending her title. It was Johnson’s fourth U.S. Women’s Open championship. In May, Johnson claimed the Queens title. Johnson, the only woman to advance to two PBA television finals, was the 2015 PWBA player of the year.

The 24-year-old McEwan recorded her first pro victory in September by winning the Smithfield PWBA tour championship in Arlington, Tex. Overcoming two 7-10 splits in the first six frames, McEwan turned back Stefanie Johnson, 233-205, in the finals. The fast-rising McEwan also won two gold medals (doubles, team) and one bronze at the 2015 World Bowling Women’s Championships.

Johnson actually joined Portland after being acquired by the Lumberjacks in a trade with the Dallas Strikers. Ryan Ciminelli and Johnson were sent to Portland and the Strikers received Shawn Maldonado and BJ Moore III.

Johnson made it clear how she felt about the PBA League draft on her Facebook page, exclaiming “So excited to be a Portland Lumberjack!!!! Looking forward to 2016.”

It’s this kind of enthusiasm that the league wants. Now the league has it.

Danielle McEwan, 24, notched her first pro victory in September by winning the Smithfield PWBA tour championship in Arlington, Tex. McEwan is now a member of the Motown Muscle.

Johnson will be bowling for the new franchise Portland Lumberjacks, managed by Tim Mack. McEwan is now a member of the Motown Muscle, managed by Del Ballard Jr.

This marks the second season there will be a woman presence in the league. In the league’s inaugural season, highly decorated Kelly Kulick of Union Township, N.J., was a member of the New York City WTT KingPins, owned by tennis great Billie Jean King. But Kulick was relegated to a minor role on the KingPins as the team’s supplemental pick.

Kulick didn’t take a shot until the KingPins’ Elias Cup victory over the Muscle when she racked up two strikes in two attempts. Both of Kulick’s strikes came when the KingPins already had sealed the championship. Since then, the league has gone without a woman in Seasons 2 and 3 before opting to add Johnson and McEwan for Season 4.

Why did the league wait so long before giving some top women pros a shot?

Was the league terrified the men would be shown up by the women? That’s probably unlikely, but always a possibility. The top women pros I’ve interviewed have shown amazing diplomacy by saying it’s very competitive among the elite bowlers – meaning it was understandable that women would have a difficult time breaking into the league’s rosters. And they also said they were pleased with the PBA’s opening doors for the women with the new Professional Women’s Bowling Assn. tour.

In truth, at least one top woman has been silently seething about not being given a chance to show she belongs in the same company as the elite men. Kulick showed how far women have come when she stunned her male colleagues by claiming the 2010 PBA Tournament of Champions. Kulick advanced to the championship match in that tournament by defeating PBA League regular Mika Koivuniemi in the semifinals and then routing Chris Barnes, 265-195, in the finals. Barnes happens to be the franchise player of the Silver Lake (Calif.) Atom Splitters, the league’s two-time defending champions. Kulick’s victory over Barnes was a watershed moment in women’s bowling because she became the first women to win a PBA Tour event. But back to the PBA League.

It’s been recommended frequently by this writer that it was time for the league to embrace women – and not just

Liz Johnson, 41, won her fourth U.S. Women’s Open championship in September. Johnson will be bowling for the Portland Lumberjacks, a new PBA League franchise.

Teams Settle In As Round 3 Hits Week 2

by David Yamauchi

DOWNEY — The Brunswick Invitational took the lanes for Week 16 of the league; the second week on the long oil of Round 3. Teams seemed to settle in on where to attack the shot as scores were up from the experimental Week 1.

In the “A” match, two 5-0 teams in Sysco and Cook’s Bowling Supply met up to put their perfect records on the line. The teams went back and forth with Sysco taking game 1 while Cook’s came back with a big win in game 2. Sysco took game 3 but fell just short losing totals by 16 and taking 2 points. Cook’s takes 3 led by super-sub Mikey Villarreal’s 580 set while Paul Barraco led Sysco again with a 572 set.

In the “B” match, 5-0 Herzog Insurance went head to head with the J.A.T. team who managed 4 wins in week 1. J.A.T. struggled in their first week on the high end but managed to mark their way to 5 wins to go to 9-1. Super-sub Spanky Rosales led J.A.T. with a 598 set while Kevin Gagnon once again paced Herzog with a 583.

In the 4-v-5 match, Ketel One Vodka and Linder’s Insurance matched up their 4-1 records on the next pair. Linder’s swept to a 9-1 record with two close games led by Kevin Valmonte’s 718 set and Clean-30. Danny Ly subbed his way to a 625 set to lead Ketel One.

Second round winners Don Julio Tequila and DV8 put their 4-1 starts on the line. DV8 stroked their way to 4 wins led by Sam Hitchcock’s consistent 608 set. Don Julio took game one to start the night but couldn’t keep it up. The tequila team was led by Buddy Lucas who could only manage a 545 set.

Wowo’s Smokin’ Hot BBQ was low of the 4 point winners which matched them up with the sole 3-2 team in Forest Lanes. Forest Lanes took a 4-1 match led by Gip Lentine’s 613 set. The BBQ boys managed to take game three with a 794-778 win but it wasn’t enough for totals. Brandon Kraye was high for Wowo’s with a 617 set.

Threadworks who was the 2-3 met up with first-round winners and league total leaders Professional Approach. Pro Approach got back in form sweeping Threadworks for the 5 wins. Sonny Dew led Pro Approach with a 606 set while Paul Varela led Threadworks but it wasn’t enough to grab a point.

Keystone Lanes and Pino’s Pizza both started 1-4 after week one, putting them together in the 13-14 match. Keystone came out striking taking game 1 while Pino’s came back to take game 2. Arnold Cheesman struck out to not only win game 3 by 3 but also help carry over the strikeout pot. Cheesman’s 585 was high for Keystone while Leonard Ruiz paced Pino’s with a 570 set.

Alhambra Coin Center and Los Altos Trophies both took one point last week and matched up. Alhambra took games one and three while Los Altos won big in game 2 but it wasn’t enough for totals. Alhambra’s 4 wins came led by Doug Kempt’s 605 set while David Schiada paced Los Altos with a 601 set.

GJC Janitorial snuck one win last week, while Relax-Release-Repeat, Erickson Foods and Cremation Centers of CA all got swept to start the round. Erickson Foods came back strong taking 5 points in a sweep of Cremation Centers of CA led by the double attack of Charles Zelaya 645 and Michelle King 639. Cremation was led by Andre Pitchford’s 559 set. The Triple-R team took games one and two but only managed a 791-791 tie in game 3 en route to their 4.5 points. Dean Sanderson lit them up for 652 to help the rout while Mike Jennings broke 600 for the half-point.

Kevin Valmonte was the first to go Clean-30 this round securing him half of the pot. Financial Advisor’s Pot winners were Kevin Valmonte-248 for $250 and second went to Dean Sanderson-243 for $100. Sidepots went to Michelle King/Sam Hitchcock-222 to split $69 and Charles Zelaya-236 $69. Charles also took the third game super-pot going 244 for $207. Come on down Monday nights at 8:30 and watch what 46’ of oil on a new lane surface does to some of the best bowlers in Southern California
