Paula Vidad Makes History With Golden Ladies Victory

by Fred Eisenhammer

LAS VEGAS — Paula Vidad became the first player to win the "triple crown" of senior women's bowling and she did it in impressive style.

Vidad came back from an early 30-pin deficit in the championship match to claim the title of the 25th National Golden Ladies Classic during a four-day tournament last week at the Orleans Hotel and Casino in Las Vegas.

The Golden Ladies title allowed Vidad to complete a sweep of the three senior women's major events. She also won the United States Bowling Congress Senior Queens championship in 2011 and the Senior U.S. Open championship in 2013 and 2014.

No other woman has won titles in all three events.

The 55-year-old Vidad, who lives in Sun City, Calif., admitted that winning all three senior majors was a goal of hers this year and "I was determined to do it," she said.

Mission Hills Bowl Closing

MISSION HILLS — To me August 16, 1974 is a day not easily forgotten. The six months leading up to that day were filled with hard work, arguments, miscalculations, outright mistakes and a shortage of money. But in the end we pulled it off.

It was the day Mission Hills Bowl opened for business. In the forty-one years since that day, Mission has enjoyed serving millions, yes millions, of customers, a lot of whom became friends. We have seen marriages, divorces, births and deaths.

Our first junior bowlers grew up and had junior bowlers of their own and those junior bowlers had more junior

We survived earthquakes, fires and recessions. The one thing we can't survive, however, is a short lease. We are faced with spending a couple of hundred thousand dollards to do electrical and plumbing upgrades to the 65 year old building or we have been informed our insurance will be non-renewed.

With few years remaining on our existing lease and no chance at a new lease it just isn't possible to continue. So it is with much sadness in my heart that I announce that Mission Hills Bowl will be closing at the end of May.

We invite you to come by in the next two months and say your goodbyes and perhaps conger up memories of a better time. If you want to see me I'll be the one in the corner shed-

BROOKLYN STyLES, Silver Lake Atom Splitters Advance to PBA League Semifinal Round

PORTLAND, Maine With a sold-out crowd cheering loudly throughout the competition, the Concrete Software BROOKLYN STyLES and Bass Pro Shops Silver Lake Atom Splitters each won a one-ball sudden-death roll-off at Bayside Bowl to advance to the semifinal round of the PBA League Elias Cup playoffs.

The opening round of PBA League competition aired Sunday on ESPN.

Bowling in the state of Maine for the first time in PBA history, and in a 12-lane bowling center converted into a two-lane arena for the PBA League team competition, a raucous, fun-loving crowd of bowling fans cheered non-stop throughout two best-of-twogame team matches, both of which were decided by one pin in one-ball roll-offs.

In the first match, the 2013

Elias Cup champion GEICO New York City WTT King-Pins, anchored by PBA Hall of Famer Pete Weber, struggled to a 182-171 victory over the STyLES in a game marred by four missed single-pin spare conversion attempts between

"That was a display of spare shooting like you've never seen before," STyLES anchor bowler Parker Bohn III said sarcastically. But the STyLES found the pocket in game two, putting together strings of three strikes three times to win, 247-148, and send the match into suddendeath where Bohn's strike beat Weber's nine-count.

"That shot was for the entire team," Bohn said of his winning strike. "My teammates put their trust in me and I was able to come through."

PACITA BAKER - OUR CHAMPION

MODESTO — Pacita Baker has just returned from this years state BVL Tournament as a champion. While she didn't place at last weeks state tournament she is "OUR CHAMPION."

She is our champion because she not only won our association BVL Tournament in December but also represented us in Modesto with her usual class and grace. Also, she is our champion because she bowls in every one of our Citrus Belt tournaments. Old school participation. If only the USBC could find more Pacita Bakers.

In December Pacita rolled a scratch 604 series to win the Citrus Belt BVL Women's Classic Division singles title. Pacita used her Columbia Enigma, drilled by ZACK JELLSEY, to roll her winning score and leaned heavily on husband John for help with her lane adjustments. With Zack and John on her side, Pacita is hard to beat.

While Pacita usually averages in the 180s her best average is 196. Her high game is 279 and series is 699. She has been bowling for about fifty years, starting in the Philippines thanks to husband JOHN BAKER.

Mrs. Baker's favorite pro bowlers are WENDY McPHER-SON and CHRIS BARNES. Her game reflects the influence professional bowlers have on league bowlers. She emulates the power of McPherson and the poise exhibited by Barnes. Thank you BOWLING NEWS for supporting Citrus Belt women.

SOME BIG, BIG NEWS ABOUT THE 'BEHEMOTH BURGER'

by FRED EISENHAMMER

WOODLAND HILLS — It may not be selling like hotcakes, but it's a whopper of a show-stopper.

That's the "behemoth burger," which AMF Woodlake Lanes in Woodland Hills has been selling for about seven months from the bowling center's Ventura Café.

It's a five-pound, 14-inch-round burger that the menu says is "served with the works and made for sharing."

Price tag: $54.99.

Richie Clark, the general manager of Woodlake Lanes, insists

The huge hunk of hamburger is meant to be shared by five or six people and is typically sold at bowling parties or social gatherings, Clark says

The bowling house failed to sell any of those burgers for the first month and a half after its debut, but Clark reports that sales are picking up and there have been about 25 purchased in the last

The burger has generated considerable buzz around the San Fernando Valley area because of its hefty price and tremendous Woodlake Lanes is part of the Bowlmor AMF bowling chain, which offers the "behemoth burger" at some of its other centers but not necessarily at the same price. One Texas bowling center, Clark says, sells about "25 to 30" a month of the "behemoth

Clark says he's eaten the "behemoth burger" several times. "I think it's really good. You'd think it's just a blah, generic thing that's five pounds. But it's actually quite tasty," he says.

The "behemoth burger" is cooked fresh and takes about a half-hour to make.

Woodlake Lanes rolled out the "behemoth burger" during league play one night a few months ago and allowed bowlers to sample it.

Those who ate it that night gave it a thumbs up.

"It was good, really good," Geoff Gast said. "And it was free.

Others stayed clear.

"There's no reason to eat something that big," Diane Weed said. Perry Haberman perhaps seemed to speak for many of his fellow Woodlake Lanes bowlers last week when he was asked whether he would order a "behemoth burger."

"I'd eat it," Haberman said, "if I didn't have to pay for it."

Kelly Gold blasted back-to-back perfect games two years ago. Now she has her sights set on an 800 series.

KELLY GOLD REMAINS FIXATED ON HER GOAL

by FRED EISENHAMMER

WINNETKA — It's now been two years since Kelly Gold did the unfathomable and unforgettable.

Bowling in her women's travel league in January 2013, Gold smoked back-to-back 300s in her first two games at Winnetka Bowl. She added her 25th straight strike in the first frame of her third game before finishing with a pedestrian 161 – and a powerful 761 series.

It's believed that her back-to-back perfect games (the seventh and eighth 300s of her careers) marked the first time a Los Angeles-area woman bowler has accomplished the feat. The stunning performance elicited this reaction from Kelly Kulick, perhaps the best pro women's bowler in the country: "If you get 24 strikes in a row, it's like hitting three home runs in baseball.'

Gold returned to Winnetka Bowl for her women's travel league last week and she put on another show in her final two games, blasting a 243 and 233 after struggling in the first game with a 148.

In her final game, the stylish, right-handed Gold knocked down strikes in her first seven frames, creating hopes among her fans that she was headed for her ninth perfecto. But the streak was broken when she left a messy split on a shot that was a tad high on the pocket.

The two strong games gave Gold - a 212-average bowler additional encouragement to continue pursuing the goal that keeps her motivated in the game: her first 800 series.

"I'm not giving up 'til I get my 800. And once I do that, I can resign," said Gold with a smile.

The fact that she has crushed back-to-back 300s and doesn't get rattled leaves her supporters confident that she will eventually achieve her goal. Her high series stands at 777, which she rolled in 2009.

'Kelly's my idol," said Rick Auerbach, a former major league infielder who recently racked up his fifth 300 game. "I tell her that every week. She has eight certified 300s and a back-to-back [300]. She's the best in the area.'

Ace L.A. bowler Bob Englehart calls Gold's twin perfectos

"an awesome accomplishment. I've never done that. She's still in her prime and has great game. And she's very humble and that makes her more attractive.'

Ileane Tober has been a longtime teammate of Gold's in her travel league. And Tober was with Gold when the latter crushed her back-to-back 300 games.

"Kelly's a great, great bowler," Tober said. "I've seen her get a 300 before, but to bowl back-to-back 300s, I've never seen that. She was really focused."

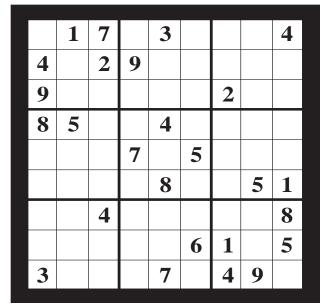

Asked what she remembered about the day of her back-toback 300s, Gold said last week that it all was a little hazy.

But a year earlier, Gold said this about her twin 300s: "I was on another planet. It was surreal. It was like you were on your own little lane by yourself and you can't miss. And even if you do miss, it still carried. It was crazy, unbelievable."

The back-to-back perfect games elevated Gold, a West Last Weeks Solution Hills resident, into the ranks of the super elite among Los Angeles-area bowlers. Suddenly, she was the subject of a flurry of bowling stories. Poised and vivacious, Gold had no problem dealing with the publicity.

"I like being the center of attention," she said laughing. "That's for sure."

ZACK KING BOWLING'S FUTURE

by Therese Lloyd and Frank Weiler

SAN BERNARDINO
— Every weekend I practice for at least three hours.
Among other things I work on adjustments, ball speed, hand positions and spare shooting. Every weekend I see thirteen year old Zack King practicing before I arrive and still practicing after I leave. Zack is dedicated to bowling and becoming a good bowler. Zack works hard at improving his game future for our sport.

hard at improving his game. When I see Zack I see a bright Zack's dedication and hard work is paying off. He has lifted his average from 130 to 154. His high game has gone from 181 to 220 and high series from 428 to 500. All of this in two and a half months. Last week Zack bowled a 192 game against me.

Better still, Zack is a champion. He recently led his youth team to a fall/winter league championship at Del Rosa Lanes. Coaches LEE FITZGERALD, BOBBY LYONS and TERRY HODGSON are all raving about Zack.

Zack King just started bowling last fall after watching his family compete at Del Rosa Lanes. He enjoys watching family and friends compete in leagues. He watches and learns. He watches and gains experience. He watches and improves. Zack is an exceptional young man.

Family. For Zack family comes first. That is why he has as much fun watching his Mom bowl as much as he enjoys bowling himself. That is why his favorite professional bowler is Parker Bohn III. Parker is a family man and exhibits the qualities every boy admires. He is cool, calm and collected.

Again, Zack is wise beyond his years. Grandfather DARWIN BALDING has told us that Zack is the smartest person in the family.

Zack's favorite ball is his Strike King. He knows how to HOOK IT. I have watched him rotate his hand around that ball with an agility reserved for the young and athletic. Zack is both and it is fun to watch his ball dance to his tune.

Master King told me he is grateful to his Mom, grandpa and coaches for supporting him. My thanks to the BOWLING NEWS for supporting Citrus Belt youth bowlers. Also I must add that I am grateful for knowing Zack King and seeing BOWLING'S FUTURE.

sion with a clutch performance in the championship match where she scored a 237-225 victory over USBC Hall-of-Famer and topseeded Tish Johnson of Colorado Springs.

Vidad was seeded second in the five-woman, stepladder finals. She reached the championship match with a convincing 246-216 victory over fifth-seeded Terri Ward of Loveland, Colo., who had won her first two stepladder matches and was threatening to "run the table." From there, Vidad took on Johnson for the $2,500 top prize. The two are familiar opponents, having faced off "tons of times," Vidad said. Vidad got off to a rocky start, opening in the first frame after leaving the 4-9 split. Johnson, meanwhile, rolled strikes in her first four frames and enjoyed an 89-59 cushion after three frames.

Vidad launched her comeback in the third frame, putting together five straight strikes that left her only 10 pins behind after seven frames. She then slipped ahead after Johnson opened in the ninth frame, missing a seven pin. Vidad, essentially, needed a mark in the 10th frame to sew up the victory and she sealed the win with a flourish, rolling a solid strike.

"I think it was one of my best shots," Vidad said. "It was flush. I was so excited. There was a lot of screaming because I had done what I wanted to do. I was pretty much crying after that – from the relief and stress – all at once."

Coincidentally, Vidad had faced Johnson last year in the championship match of the Senior Women's U.S. Open. Vidad won that match, 234-210.

The right-handed Vidad entered the stepladder finals with a lot of momentum, having bowled a torrid 804 match-play series (279-258-267) the day before.

Vidad holds the USBC record for most perfect games in a tournament – three (in 28 games) that she bowled in the 1998 Western Women's Professional Bowlers tournament. Still, Vidad believes she's bowling better now that she ever has in her life. "It's crazy," Vidad said, "but it seems like my game has gotten better over the years."

Vidad's powerful bowling did not go unnoticed by the Golden Ladies talent-laden field, which included 122 bowlers.

"Paula is a tough competitor on the lanes and a great friend and promoter of everything bowling off the lanes," said Jackie Wycoff of Campbell, Calif., who finished 22nd in the tournament.

"Even though she started the [championship] match with a nasty split, she never gave up. By keeping it close, she was able to come back and win the match."

Other top California finishers included Pam Pancoast of Lomita (fourth), Sharon Aronson of Turlock (11th), Debbie Ayers of San Diego (12th), Robin Romeo of Newhall (14th), Regina Aboud of San Jose (17th) and Vesma Grinfelds of San Francisco (18th).

Pancoast, seeded third, was ousted in Game 2 of the stepladder finals by Ward, 215-202. Ward opened the stepladder competition by squeaking past Lucy Sandelin of Tampa, Fla., 202-199.

Johnson earned $1,300 for her second-place finish. Ward won $900, Pancoast picked up $800 and Sandelin earned $700.

HELLO TO BOWLING: Part IV

Bowling balls are not thrown; they're delivered. What's the difference? Throwing is an undisciplined action that creates random, unreliable results (low scores). Delivery is a series of precise, well-defined steps creating repetitious, reliable performances (high scores). Skills are the recipe to the latter and it's time to learn them. They produce the accuracy you want and need.

Lesson #3: Luck occurs when preparation meets opportunity.

Bowling and practice are two different things. Bowling involves keeping score; it measures how successfully you've practiced. "Practiced what?" The skills you are about to learn. Practice them, master them, trust them. They will make you a winner (your bowling scores will prove that). Without them I can only wish you a lot of luck because, well, you'll need it.

The first skill is the "stance".....but you're not ready to learn it yet. Before you start learning technique, there are some preliminaries to address. First you need to find a ball that fits you. The racks have plenty to choose from. You're a beginner, so you should start with You've chosen the right ball if you can (A) insert your two middle fingers to the second knuckle, (B) the span (finger-holes to thumbhole) matches yours, and (C) you can insert your thumb completely into the thumbhole. Make sure that the thumbhole isn't too loose (ball will fall off your hand) or too tight (ball won't come off your hand and could cause other problems). Swing the ball a few times to ensure you can handle it. The heavier the ball is, the better it will serve you.

Next, you'll need a pair of bowling shoes (street shoes are forbidden). You want them to fit like the thumbhole; not too loose or too tight. By the way, clothing should be comfortable and loose. You need freedom of movement to bowl effectively. Let's get started.

As stated, the first skill is THE STANCE. It's the most important because it aims your shot and sets up your delivery. There are a bazillion ways to stand with a bowling ball, but the best way is this:

- Place your feet exactly at the starting point previously determined. Stand erect.
- Keep your feet close together with the left foot back a bit. Put your weight on the right foot.
- Take a deep breath and put your hand in the ball (fingers in first, then the thumb).
- Face the second target-arrow from the gutter. Don't take your eyes off that arrow!
- Dip your delivery-shoulder straight down as far as it will go. Don't force it down.
- Rotate your wrist so that your hand is directly under the ball.
- Anchor your elbow tightly to your side.
- Point your forearm straight at the second arrow.

Doing this properly creates a posture which lines up the center of the ball, your shoulder and dominant eye (this alignment must be maintained throughout your delivery). You should be able to swing the ball freely without it touching you. If it does, lean toward the ball a bit to create more space between the hips and your arm-swing. The ball should be held waist-high or lower and be supported by both hands. You and the ball are now aimed at that second arrow.

Of course this feels awkward. Daily practice for a minute or two in front of a full-length mirror (at home) quickly overcomes this. You will have mastered this skill when you can say to yourself, "STANCE!" and snap into it with your eyes closed. Also, when nobody is looking, practice walking with this posture. That will serve you well.

The second skill is THE PUSH-AWAY which is incredibly important because it tells the ball where to go. It also influences the speed and timing of your shot. It consists of (literally) pushing the

It begins with the elbow separating from your side and ends when the elbow is completely straightened. Done properly, you move the ball deliberately (not aggressively) in a straight line toward your target. It must not go upward, sideway or straight down. It's the easiest skill to master (a minute or two in front of a mirror), but also the easiest to forget. Practice giving this command to yourself, "PUSH-AWAY!" then perform the skill itself. Pushing the ball away until your arm is completely straightened must become a habit.

The third skill is THE ARM-SWING. It develops the speed and direction of your shot. Done properly the arm swings freely in the direction of the second arrow. It's the hardest skill to master because the ball is heavy and you instinctively want to throw it as hard as you can.

It's actually very easy to tame this monster once you believe what I've already explained; that power isn't necessary, accuracy is. Trying to develop excessive speed destroys your accuracy. Remember, the pins fall very easily, but you have to hit them!

Here's a tip that will improve your arm-swing ability. Stand in front of a full-length mirror with a weight in your hand. A bowling ball would be ideal, but it can be a soup or pop can, a dumbbell or any weighted object you can handle. Pick a target on the floor in the reflection and face it. Get into your "stance" posture and begin swinging the weight straight toward it (No, don't let go of it!). Now close your eyes and keep swinging. Keep swinging as you open your eyes. Is the weight still swinging directly at the target? Keep practicing until it does.

While your eyes are closed focus on what the swinging motion feels like. That's what you need to learn. When bowling, you can't see your arm-swing. This sense of feel is what you will rely on.

You also need to increase your hand strength. Nothing destroys an effective arm-swing faster than losing your grip on the ball. Here are some suggestions for strengthening your grip:

- 1. Get a rubber ball and squeeze it for a few minutes several times a day.
- 2. At the bowling center, find a ball on the racks heavier than the one you choose to use regularly. Pick it up and swing it a few times before bowling. This will make your ball feel lighter.
- 3. Hang from a tree or do pull-ups in a gym.
- 4. Do the "Indian Death Grip" with your friends. Instead of shaking hands with them, just clasp your hands together and squeeze until one of you cries "Uncle!" (I told you practice should be fun!)

The fourth skill is THE RELEASE. It sends the ball on its way. To release the ball properly, the wrist must be positioned correctly. The thumb should be on top of the ball and the fingers should be behind it. Then it's just a matter of releasing the pressure the thumb exerts on the ball. The thumb will come out first, followed by the ball rolling off your fingers heading merrily toward the second arrow. That sounds easy enough, doesn't it? It is...... if you have confidence. Remember confidence comes from competence and that results from practice.

- Practice your stance because it will aim your shot at the target.
- Practice your push-away because it will move your ball toward the target.
- Practice your arm-swing because it will add ball speed.
- Practice keeping your wrist in position so all you have to do is let the ball go.
- Be creative looking for different ways to practice these skills. Have fun with it!

Those are the four very basic bowling skills needed for you to become a competent bowler. As stated earlier, you need to practice, master and trust them. If you do, you won't need to rely on luck! One lesson to go! See you next week.

Round 3 was Jo Jo Barce-

This match was close and down to the final ball with Barcelona edging the likable Torres 208-206. All scores include handicap and Aarik got a $200 Check with Jo Jo on to the title game vs Bill Warren.

It looked to be a good one. Two of the Good Guys going for the Title. Warren top seed elected to let Jo Jo begin the match. He opened chopping a spare. Warren then whiffed a 10 pin, and struck. Jo Jo then found the line and had a three bagger. Warren (Bill) missed back to back spares spared and struck and extended his lead. Bill who is struggling, struck then opened again and Jo Jo sealed the deal with another 3 bagger to win going away in a 254-186 game inc Hcp for his 2nd ABTA Title, and well-deserved. He took home a nice $1,900 with the Cash N Carry and shirt Bonus added to the $1,000. Great Bowling by one of the Good Guys to be sure. Jo Jo and several friends from up north have been with the ABTA for 15 yrs. or so. Great bowling My Friend!

the doubles. $800 in 2nd spot were Quach and the eventual Champ Jo Jo Barcelona 1389. The low to cash was 1330.

The semifinals took the floor with 34 bowlers. Make the top 16 Single Elim Finals including 3 guaranteed women. All others to cash accord-

After the three game Semis the cut to the top 16 was + 51for the men and women +46 to fill the bracket. Bill Warren was the leader with a great +119 to sit out and bowl for the title. JoJo Barcelona 2nd +103 to receive a first round by and enter in round two of the eliminations. Mr. Warren would draw the Match Game which was worth $730. He drew an unmatched 156. We will estimate the Match Game to be $1,700 Saturday at Key-

The Elim Finals beganand In round one we saw Vic Paolucci, Kelly Wynn, Steven Alford, Sean Nguon, Steve Comstock, Korn Ngow, and Marife Catalasan be eliminated finishing in 10th-16th Places and $100 Round two had some close matches but falling out were Andrew Finney, Angela Lung, Bobbie Mc Collum, and Will Samson. They finished in 6th - 9th Places.

lona edging Kristian Bueno and Aarik Torres got to Robert Contreras. So Kristian and Robert were 4th and 5th at Covina. Jo Jo, and Aarik to meet for the right to bowl for the title vs Mr. Warren.

when you sit out after bowling well it is tough to restart but Bill had no excises just had a bad game He is One Fine Guy also. It is always nice to see him at our events, he misses very few! Great Bowling Bill

Thanks to the fine Staff at Covina for the super support there. We will return soon and

LAS VEGAS - A few Marines returned from the annual Military Tournament in Las Vegas a little bit beat up and burned out from the beating that we took from the Air Force. However, we were just in time to take a shot at the title of the 2015 Annual Orange County Tournament Championship. This event was organized by USBC and hosted at

We bowled the Team event on the 22nd of February and the Singles and Doubles on the 1st of March. Our team name was "That's How We Roll". As Marines first to fight is what we are known for. It was a four man team format, which consisted of three Marines and the son of a Marine. The Dad, Lanny Ross pumped us up and came out of the gate with a blazzing 298 to set the tone for the rest of the team. He finished his series with a 786. His son, Branson Ross our anchor bowler had a high game of 255, finishing his series with a 735. Roy Coleman the lead off bowler shot a 786 series and James Mabus shot a 729 series which launched us into 1st place, with a score of 3039, where we remained for the rest of the tournament. The Singles and Doubles brought on a changing of the guards for our team. It was time for the two elders of the group to take charge and be in the forefront of the action. 65-year old team Captain Master Sargeant Roy Coleman and his Desert Storm comrad, 52-year old James Mabus had a shoot out among themselves.

In the first game of the Doubles, Roy shoots 245 only to get beat by his partner with a 247. The 2nd game Roy shoots 264 only to get beat again with a score of 267. Finally the 3rd game he came through and beat his partner 198 to 184. Together with their collective efforts and can do attitude, they were able to launch themselves into 1st place for the Doubles with a score of 1607 with handicap and have fun too.

Roy also came in 5th and 6th place in All-Events with a total score of 2365 for this tournament.

When the team captain was asked how did they stay focused for the entire tournament, he replied, "We found a way to push ourselves. We adapted, we adjusted and we motivated each other to over come all of the obstacles that stood in our way." As Marines we have been taught to take care of our own. Semer Fi "OOH RA"

NATIONAL DEAF BOWLING NEWS

BOB JONES LED DEAF TRAVEL AGAIN WITH 874 AT GABLE HOUSE BOWL

TORRANCE — In its 2nd round stop at Gable House Bowl, Southern California Deaf Traveling League tried to do better than its first stop there last November but came up short. Mainly Bob Jones who on that November first stop there rolled a 906 series, came up short this time with a 874 to lead the day's honor roll again. The lefty had had too many 7 pins taps between strikes in his all twos-four games of 236-213-211-214 that prevented from scoring higher.

Following Jones on the roll list was his opponent Dan Flores who had a poor first two games (180-159) start before finishing with the day's high game of 246 and 205 for a 790 series. After Flores were Ed Abakumoff with 162-202-204-214 for 780 and his opponent Gorman Low with 158-183-231-207 for 779. Also making the list were 91 years young Connie Marchione with (209)710 and Robert Audette with (217)705. Celia Salcedo was the high lady with both game and series (190)652.

The surprise of the day was league leader Flores' Orange County being upset with a near sweep 17-3 loss by cellar-dwelling Jones' S F Valley. That moved S F Valley out of the bottom as 3rd place Low's Hollywood made a near sweep 15-5 win over Abakumoff's Riverside putting Riverside into the cellar. The other team action was 4th place Mid City making an upsetting 13-7 loss on 2nd place Audette's Eagle Rock that provides the first 3 places closer within 6.5 points.

The 55 yeas old deaf traveling league appreciates Gable House management and staff for hosting with good scoring conditioning. Next on schedule is April 13 at Winnetka Bowl with bowling at Noon and fate setting the exciting match action as like a position round.

"I thought that shot would be flush in the pocket," Weber said of the 7 pin he left in the roll-off, "but it just kept going."

In the second match, the Bass Pro Shops Silver Lake Atom Splitters couldn't put two strikes back-to-back, but they bowled an otherwise flawless game to win the first game, 192-179. The key to the win was Mika Koivuniemi's rare 2-8-10 split conversion which energized his team, and proved especially important when the High 5 Gear Philadelphia Hitmen caught fire, running away to a 265-205 win in game two to force the roll-off.

The defending Elias Cup champion Atom Splitters moved on to the semifinal round when Hitmen anchor Rhino Page left the 4-7 on his first shot, and Atom Splitters' anchor Dick Allen left only a 10 pin for the 9-8 win.

"I make the 2-8-10 a few times a year," Koivuniemi said of his pivotal shot, "but I've never made it on TV. I was trying to make it by throwing the 2 pin into the 10 and hoping it would bounce across. That's what happened, but it's always lucky to make it. It kind of took (the Hitmen's) hopes away.'

The atmosphere in Maine was unique, with fans cheered loudly and music blaring in the background throughout the competition, and the players loved the high level of enthusiasm.

"It was electrifying to the max," Bohn said. "We used to bowl in an arena in Erie, Pennsylvania with 4,000 noisy fans, but that was nothing compared to this. I think the people in Erie could hear the fans in Maine.

"It was really fun," Weber added. "I've never seen anything

The third and fourth quarterfinal matches in the PBA League series will air next Sunday on ESPN at 3:30 p.m. ET when the HotelPlanner.com Pittsburgh Jack Rabbits, led by former PBA Player of the Year Wes Malott, meet the Shipyard Brewery Dallas Strikers, led by player-manager and PBA Hall of Famer Norm Duke. The fourth quarterfinal match is between Detroit's Barbasol Motown Muscle, led by 2013 PBA Rookie of the Year EJ Tackett, vs. Wheaties L.A. X, led by two-time reigning PBA Player of the Year Jason Belmonte.

The four quarterfinal round winners will advance to the semifinal round on ESPN on Sunday, April 12, at 2 p.m. ET. The semifinal round winners will bowl for the Elias Cup in a single, doubles, trios and Baker team finale on Sunday, April 19, at 1 p.m. ET.

BURBANK — As you all know, I have declared myself addicted to bowling. My dedication, interest and efforts for bowling are always in the back of my mind and thoughts. This causes me, all too often, to assume all bowlers feel likewise. Not so, Grasshopper. Apparently, there are many kinds of 'bowler attitudes'.

Many years ago, my hubby had a brief conversation with another bowler about the sport. This guy was obviously distraught having come to the conclusion that bowling was now the only sport he could play. His exact words were "Yeah, bowling is what is left when you can no longer do anything else." Excuse me?

His point was that he really preferred to be playing baseball, or maybe it was basketball, and now was unable because he had become permanently injured. But he could bowl. I've heard this tale of woe before from my own hubby. He is, and will always be, a hockey player before anything else. A torn hamstring took him off the ice and pulled him onto the lanes with me.

This attitude blows my mind. It says to me these people don't think of bowling as a real sport. A sport that requires skill! They don't see the beauty in watching a skilled bowler roll a perfect shot and look good while doing it! Nor do they account for the ability needed to place a ball perfectly 12 times for a 300 game. For me, watching a seasoned bowler is like watching ballet...poetry in motion.

Have you thought about your 'bowler attitude'? Do you eagerly anticipate bowling day or do you dread it? Do you see your lesser scores as a chance to improve or wallow in them only to talk about what a great pitcher you were in your day? Do you find joy in your fellow bowlers high scores or shy away from the high five they deserve? Think about it. Attitude adjustments have often led to greater expertise and a helluva lot more fun!

The Professional Approach Moves To The Top Alone at 9-1

by Randy Myers

DOWNEY — It may not have been pretty, but it was effective Monday night as The Professional Approach pulled out a 4-1 over DV8, winning Team Totals by a mere 2 pins!! The defending champs were down by 75 pins entering game 3, but came storming back to win and move to 9-1 for the round. Billy Myers Jr. led his team with 608, while DV8 had all four bowlers shoot between 538-543. Next up for The Professional Approach will be Threadworks, who were to top scoring team on the night, shooting 2427 to defeat Pino's Pizza 4-1. Paul Varela 275/700, Eric Snow 265/627, and Butch Jackson 625 scored big for the winners while Leonard Ruiz Jr. led Pino's with 641. Blizz Yogurt whitewashed Alhambra Coin Center 5-0 to also move to 8-2, just one game behind the leaders. Greg Neuer shot 596 to lead Blizz, while Doug Kempt shot 542 for the Coin Center. Linder Insurance moved to 6-4 with a 5-0 sweep of Cook's Bowling Supply spearheaded by the awesome bowling of Michelle Tran 269/663 and Anthony Santos 258/623. Power House Video Games is also sitting at 6-4 after taking 4 of 5 from J.A.T. The video games group was Powered by Eddie VanDaniker 278/697 and Lee Liu 608, while Larry Campbell shot 631 for J.A.T

Tifco Industries somehow managed to go 3-2 for the second week in a row and are also at 6-4, just 3 back from the round lead. Tifco used a huge Game 3 to move around Herzog Insurance for Team Totals. Albert Chen was tops for Tifco with 575, while Mikey Villarreal led Herzog and the pair with 604. In the night's most "spirited" match, it was CASAMIGO's Tequila evening their record at 5-5 as they swept away American Harvest Vodka. Joe Jimenez led all bowlers this night with 264/703, getting help from anchorman Vernon Adams 601, while American Harvest was paced by Kevin Jones 613. Los Altos Trophies got two strong efforts as Buddy Lucas and Jonathan Huezo shot 624 & 611 respectively to lead their team to a 4-1 win over GJC Services, who were paced by Joey Hanna 568. Bowlium bowled very well, getting strong performances from James Tipton 629 and Christopher Sutton 621 but only managed to pull out 1 win. In the round winners matchups it was Keystone Lanes outlasting Erickson Foods to win 4-1 as both teams struggled down the stretch. Charles Zelaya 628 and Herbert Jones 616 led Keystone, while Bobby Campagnale 631 & Sol Cericos 605 were doing the striking for Erickson. The last match was very close as SYSCO managed to pull out a 3-2 sin by winning Team Totals by 8 pins. Gabriel Martinez was once again top gun for SYSCO with 589, Jon Diso bowled a very consistent 581 to lead Forest Lanes.

Sidepot winners were Game 1 – Eric Snow 265, Game 2 –Eddie VanDaniker 278, good for both 2nd Game and 1st in Financial Advisor's pot. Joe Jimenez got 2nd for $100 with 264. Game 3 Super Pot went to Paul Varela with 275. The TRUE ANCHOR award goes to Ricardo Baca with 469, as he was low "man". Debbie Abahazy struggled to 414, followed closely by 3 other ladies...

Two weeks are gone, only six more to determine our last two roll-off teams. Scores will be considerably higher next Monday as we move to the house shot. If you're a fan of strikes and honor scores, you may want to take in the action live at Del Rio next Monday. I am planning on make an appearance the day after Easter so come down to Del Rio Lanes in Downey and see it all for yourself! Have a blessed week everyone!
