Kenneth Daleiden 1933 - 2016

by John Daleiden

DOWNEY — Ken Daleiden passed away Monday, May 16, 2016 very peacefully after enduring countless health problems for over the last few years. Along with lots of loving memories, he left behind his wife, Rose, and this three children, Robin, Cindy and John.

Ken had such a quick wit and sense of humor that his friends that he would see three times a week at his dialysis treatments game him the nickname, “mighty fine.” Whenever anyone would ask him, how he was doing, “mighty-fine” was always his answer. Not only did Ken make friends easily wherever he went, he also had a head for business, and was a born salesman. He had such a passion for everything he did and had a work ethic like no other, 82 years to be proud of.

Ken was born and raised in Michigan, where he met his beautiful wife, Sylvia. Within a few short years, they had their first child Robin, and because of her health, Ken picked up his family and made the move to California. While in California, he started bowling as a remedy to a broken elbow he suffered in a car accident many years before. After moving to Florida in 1970, his interest in bowling developed into

Pete Weber Notches Record-Tying Third Straight PBA50 Tour Title in Johnny Petraglia BVL Open

Brian LeClair's bid for victory ends with pocket 7-10 split in 10th frame

FARMINGDALE, N.Y. (May 10, 2016) – Professional Bowlers Association Hall of Famer Pete Weber continued his torrid 2016 PBA50 Tour campaign Tuesday night, winning the Johnny Petraglia BVL Open presented by Brunswick at Farmingdale Lanes for a record-tying third consecutive PBA50 Tour title.

Weber again dominated the field of 50-and-older players to earn the top berth in the stepladder finals, but he narrowly escaped with a 223-204 victory over Brian LeClair of Delmar, N.Y., when LeClair left a pocket 7-10 split on his first shot in the 10th frame.

With his win, Weber tied the PBA50 Tour record for consecutive titles set by Tom Baker of King, N.C., in 2006. With his seventh career PBA50 Tour title, Weber also broke a personal tie with his late father, who won six PBA50 titles. Weber also noted he won the first Johnny Petraglia Open, held on the PBA Tour at Brunswick Zone Carolier in N. Brunswick, N.J., 25 years ago.

Thus far in 2016, Weber – the reigning PBA50 Player of the Year – has a fourth-place finish in the season-opening Pasco County Florida Open followed by consecutive titles in the UnitedHealthcare

Sun Bowl in The Villages in Florida and the Mooresville Ford Open in North Carolina. Weber will try for his fourth consecutive title in the Suncoast PBA Senior U.S. Open at Suncoast Bowling Center in Las Vegas, May 30-June 3, where Weber also is defending champion.

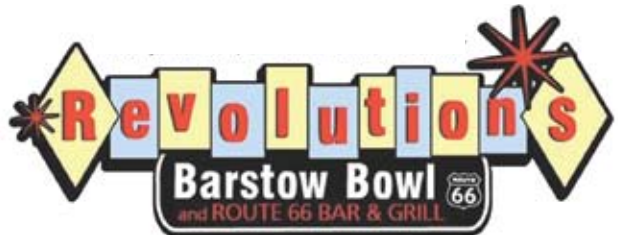

“I’ve won a couple titles in a row, maybe made a show the next week, but I’ve never won three in a row, so it’s kinda cool,” Weber said.

Unlike many PBA players, Weber was watching when LeClair threw his ill-fated shot in the 10th frame.

“I always watch,” he said. “When Brian let it go, I thought, I just lost. But Dad always said I’d rather be lucky than good. I’d rather be both, but tonight I got lucky.”

to Close May 28

by Fred Eisenhammer

BARSTOW – It was just five months ago that Revolutions Barstow Bowl received a top business award from the Barstow Chamber of Commerce.

Now the 24-lane bowling center will be closing.

Paula Vidad, one of the bowling center’s owners, announced that “our last day open to the public will be Saturday, May 28th. We must vacate the premises by the 31st. Hopefully, it won’t be too long before the new owner will open the doors back up.”

The Barstow Desert Dispatch reported that Vidad had told her staff that the bowling center’s landlord had sold the property. The landlord had previously informed Vidad of a price reduction on the property, but Vidad said it was still too costly for her and her partners to purchase, the

MAMA'S LET YOUR BABIES GROW UP TO BE BOWLERS! The Norton's

by Bette Addington

Equally as well known to California bowlers, the mom-and-son-team of Virginia and Scott Norton have their many bowling accomplishments imprinted in local, state and national events.

CA bowlers statewide admire and respect Virginia Norton, who began bowling at the age of 9. Her parents did not bowl at that time, but were always open to give Virginia the opportunity to try new things and she wanted to bowl. She said, “The first time I tried it, I was hooked!” Her dad started bowling with her once a week, just for fun. Then he joined a league while her mom kept score. Virginia joined a junior league and the progression started. Her career took her to the PWBA which she bowled full time from 1972 until the early 1990’s. After that she still bowled the majors and tournaments that were fairly close to home.

Virginia did a lot of bowling clinics and exhibitions for Brunswick and saw there was a need for bowling instruction which led her to become a bowling instructor and coach for years and taught many young bowlers, was a major influence on Scott. He was interested in the sport of bowling from almost the time he could walk and would use a plastic ball and pin set to bowl in the hallway at home before he could try the game for real which came at about age 4-1/2.

Going with Mom to centers where she taught, Scott would practice there for hours by himself. Even to the point of having a bloody thumb or becoming tired, he did not want to stop and would keep practicing. If he saw someone he knew, he would ask them to bowl with him so he never was intimidated by bowling with adults or anyone else. Although Mom saw Scott had the potential to be a great bowler, she never pushed or forced

JEFF LEWEN'S TEAM REPEATS

by Frank Weiler

MURRIETA — Jeff Lewen's team (Logo Joe's) dominated this years 640 Scratch League regular season, winning three of four blocks and outpointing the second highest winning team by a whopping 82 points, in the overall standings. The team went "WIRE TO WIRE" and "DOMINATED" the field. Their performance reminded me of the HARLEM GLOBETROTTERS and how that team dominated their opponents one season by winning over 300 games without a loss!

Logo Joe's had an outstanding regular season because they outscored everyone. Their team averaged 659 per game (scratch trio) which was 19 pins higher than the league entering cap (640) and 18 pins higher than the next highest scoring team (Denny's at 641). The team also boasted the leagues high individual average (Jeff Lewen's 234) and "MOST IMPROVED BOWLER", Nathan Bishop, who improved on his entering average by 19 pins, from 201 to 220. "THE NUMBERS DON'T LIE". They tell a tale of "DOMINATION".

Of course, the regular season doesn't necessarily translate into a league championship. The Cal Oaks 640 Scratch Trio League has a step ladder Roll-Off to determine it's champion. The regular season merely sets the table for the Roll-Off. Logo Joe's dominant regular season "only" meant they would be the top seed in the Roll-Off. They still had to win a one game match against the team that advanced up the step ladder finals, to become league champion.

The Roll-Off was exciting as usual. The competition started at 7:30 PM with seven teams bidding for the title and only one standing at 1 AM.

John Sowell led his Froyoland team to two early match wins and with the help of teammates Seng Tong and Jerry DeYager a tie in their third match. Froyoland had their third match won but a five count by them in the tenth frame led to the tie. Sowell's team lost the tie breaking match game to Temecula Chiropractic even though Seng Tong fired a huge 266 on the challenging oil pattern. Jim Barnes and Alan Freeman led the chiropractors to victory in this protracted match, with Barnes just missing a "VARIPAPA 300".

Tony Bowman then led the chiropractors to an easy win over Kelly Jones' contingent with a big 279. Tony's bid for a perfect game was thwarted by a solid ten pin on his tenth shot. Tony's game was the high score of the night.

In the semi-final match the chiropractors expired. None of the trio could muster up a deuce and they fell to the second seeded Cal Oaks Bowl threesome of Paul Nilsen, Robert Gould and Jeremy Worthley.

The championship match pitted the Cal Oaks trio (the "CHALLENGERS") against the Logo Joe's threesome (the "DOMINATORS") of Jeff Lewen, Scott Filipi and Nathan Bishop. The Challengers fell behind early as the Dominator's Bishop struck on six of his first seven balls but roared back at the end when Gould finished with a six bagger and Nilsen with six in a row and a nine count.

Now it was up to the anchormen to decide the close match? After Lewen struck out for the Dominators Worthley came up in the tenth, for the Challengers, needing a double and four pins for the win. He made a good shot but a ringing ten pin gave Lewen's crew their second consecutive league championship. "BACK TO BACK" titles is damn impressive, especially when a team does it in Cal Oaks' top scratch league.

My congratulations to the Logo Joe's crew and thanks to the BOWLING NEWS for supporting our California league bowlers.

him. Scott was in awe not only of Mom and her great bowling talent but also the women bowlers from the 70's and 80's he grew up watching. These women became his role models because "they knew not only how to have a good time, but also how to exhibit great sportsmanship; that is, they were able to still be friends after competing which is something I always looked up to and have always striven for."

Before long he was involved in junior leagues and the endless hours of practicing continued until he dropped or his hand fell off. He also enjoyed the sports of t-ball and then baseball and soccer but his real passion was always bowling. As he grew up, he became a serious student in school and bowling practice was only done when he could find the time. But, during the summer, he was at the Brunswick Rossmoor Bowl almost every day. Being Mom worked at this center, she would have his equipment in her car so he could ride his bike three miles from home to the center and bowl at least a couple of hours and then ride back home. His first ball was a Brunswick, since Mom was under contract with them.

Mom kind of stayed out of the picture as his coach as Scott bowled for many years without much help from her. She made it clear she would be more than happy to help, but he needed to come and ask her for help. Virginia was very sensitive to this issue as she had seen many parents coach their children and then if the child had a tough practice, it would go home with them, and saw many kids feel this pressure and lose interest. Scott came to Mom when he was about 12 or 13 and asked her for help after he struggled at a tournament.

And the Mom-Son bond with bowling began. Luckily with them living in Southern CA, Scott was fortunate at the time to have exposure to a great junior bowling program--JAT. Then, Scott was drafted onto a team in the Junior All-Star Travel league. This league bowled on Sunday afternoons and JAT bowled every other weekend on Sunday mornings, so the kids would go from tournament to league and Scott bowled all the JAT tournaments. Scott was too young to drive when he first started bowling JAT and Junior All-Stars, so Mom was his ride. When he started driving, Mom still went and watched most of the time. (Virginia had also been a member of the same LA Junior All-Stars when she was a youth bowler and then was elected to the So. Calif. Junior All-Star team a couple of years before she turned adult.)

Scott's youth bowling accomplishments started racking up and he never looked back. The passion continues through today. He went on to be named the Chuck Hall Star of Tomorrow and California State Star of Tomorrow while he was still in high school. He then went on to become Junior Gold Champion and on to Junior Team USA, then won the National Amateur Championships and was on Team USA a year later. The accomplishments kept mounting as the years flew by.

His professional career was emerging as well. He started at Cal State Fullerton and then finished his undergrad at the University of Utah. Virginia always felt it was extremely important to have a college degree and stressed this all along. She was pleased, and a little surprised, when Scott decided to go to law school, but thought it was great! He graduated from Hastings School of Law in 2009, took his bar and passed it on his first try and now has his own law firm (Norton and Associates).

Virginia, 64, is a legend who is a member of the USBC Hall of Fame and the PWBA Hall of Fame, which are the two honors she is most proud of. In addition to that, she is also in the CUSBC Hall of Fame and several local Hall of Fames. She bowled in the PWBA when it was thriving which drove her to become as good as she could be to compete. Something she obviously instilled in Scott. She added she is "thrilled the PWBA is finally back."

Scott, 34, is having much success bowling PBA tournaments all around the world and is currently competing in the PBA League Elias Cup on the winning team of GEICO New York City WTT Kingpins along with teammates Mike Fagan, John Szczerbinski, Marshall Kent and Pete Weber.

The mom-and-son bond they have is very special and bowling is one important part. Scott added, "It's not often that a person is blessed to have a mother who is a Hall of Famer, but even less often that same mother would want to be behind their son for every shot if they could. So I'd like to say thank you for being there through my entire career and always believing in me."

WEST COVINA — Eldous Chan won his first ABTA championship at West Covina Lanes worth $1,000. Eldous was the top qualifier at semis and had the opportunity to sit out and watch who will challenge him for the championship.

The qualifying cut scores were Men +76 and Women +67. Top qualifiers to receive a paid entry to any regular ABTA tournament were Ubuild Lenon +127 and Sylvia Serrano +78. Super Seniors added, two men and one woman, Ely Cruz +69, Khiem Hoang +64 and Bobbie McCollum +51.

Others bowling well and few close matches making the top 16 finals were 10-16th Teddy Villaroman, Leo Silva, Marvin Crowder, Ely Cruz (who was celebrating his birthday), Freddy Zamora, Khiem Hoang and Beth Borci. They received $100 each. In 6-9th Jun Contreras, Ricardo Baca, Steve Lucka, and Bonnie Chan (champion's daughter), $105 each. 4th and 5th Michael Zang and Nick Lee $110 each.

Now it's Jeje Gabriel against Bobbie McCollum to see who will meet the top qualifier, Eldous Chan. The match started pretty slow from both bowlers, but Bobbie missed a few spares and Jeje picked up his A-game and started striking finishing with 190 against Bobbie's 150. Bobbie's third place paid $200.

The championship match started with Eldous striking the first two frames, opened the next two, found his stride and marked all the way. Meantime, Jeje started with 6-8-10 split picking up 8-10, but he steadied himself and marked all the way since it was only few pins separating them. Jeje had a strike in the 9th frame and needed the first strike in the 10th to win, threw a good ball but did not carry. Eldous finished with a 248 with handicap game to Jeje's 240 game.

Eldous hails from Diamond Bar, used his Respect drilled by Barry Asher. His wife Ella and future son-in-law, Eddie were on hand to cheer him on and Bonnie making the top 16. Jeje Gabriel is from Pomona used his Storm IQ drilled by Memo. Bobbie is from La Habra, using Storm/Tropic Heat drilled by Mikey Villarreal.

Last man standing for the 3/6/9 was JoJo Barcelona and with a semi tough shot, managed to break the bank for $2,100. Congratulations!

The Match Series, Match Game and Mystery Doubles will be carried over to Keystone Lanes in Norwalk this Saturday, May 21st. This is a FRO-ZEN tournament gearing up for the Memorial Day weekend tournament at Cal Bowl in Lakewood starting on May 26th, finals on May 29th.

Please furnish us with your email address since we're sending out schedules and announcements via emails, (abtabowling@gmail.com).

Joe Curry Gives Himself an Early Birthday Present

by Fred Eisenhammer

WINNETKA – It’s often said that the first perfect game is the most difficult and there will be no argument from Joe Curry.

Curry gave himself an early birthday present by drilling his first 300 game last week at Winnetka Bowl. Curry, who will be celebrating his 33rd birthday May 22, had repeatedly flirted with a perfect game, once blasting a 287.

This time the right-handed Curry left nothing to chance with 12 pocket shots. “I was really happy,” said Curry, who won the Los Angeles city tournament title for juniors in 2000. “In fact, I was ecstatic, to say the least. I finally got it under my belt. I was hoping it would be sooner rather than later.” Curry finished with a 728 series (201, 300, 227) during competition in the Tuesday “Guys and Dolls” league. Curry admitted that he was nervous on his last shot. “I’m surprised I didn’t drop the ball,” he said with a laugh. “All I wanted was to make it a good shot.” What was the best part about rolling a 300?

“Probably just being in an elite group of players who have done that,” said Curry, whose father and brother both own perfect games.

Curry averages 204 and bowls anchor for his team. He’s been averaging over 200 for the past four years. Curry and teammate Mike Hahn have provided a potent 1-2 punch for about five seasons. Interestingly, Hahn missed Curry’s history-making effort because he was vacationing in Hawaii. “I told him he probably got it [300] because I wasn’t there. I would have been a distraction,” joked Hahn by phone from Hawaii.

Curry is one of the most popular and gracious players in the “Guys and Dolls” league. He is mellow whether he’s stringing strikes or leaving spares (rarely).

Carol Tucker, another of Curry’s teammates, expressed sentiments that probably many in the league felt about his perfect game. “Watching Joe bowl his first 300 game has been a dream of mine for about seven years,” Tucker said.

“Being his teammate has been a true blessing for me. Joe has always encouraged me & always made it known that bowling with a fun group of connected friends is more important to him. Joe’s bowling is smooth & he makes it look effortless. I call it ‘cool.’ ”

Added Tucker: “I was so happy his mom was there to see it. I would bet money that this won’t be Joe’s last 300 – just the first of many.”

On his final shot, Curry noticed a distinct change around his bowling lanes. “I was surprised how quiet it was,” he said. The quiet ended with a raucous cheer and extended celebration when Curry put the finishing touches on his perfect game. “I was really grateful to the league for the way everyone reacted,” said Curry, a Northridge resident. “It was very memorable. It’s something I’ll never forget.”

Kids Aren't the Only Ones Who Say the Darndest Things, Part II

by Fred Eisenhammer

Here are some more of my favorite bowling quotes gleaned from five years of covering the sport:

Bob Edwards had to sweep aside all preconceived notions when he entered the bowling industry

Longtime bowling General Manager Bob Edwards, remembering how his 40-year career began: “I wanted to be in the bowling industry, which my father was in. He told me, ‘If you want to run a bowling business, you have to know how to do everything yourself. So this week, you’re going to be the janitor.’ And he handed me a mop.”

Jerry Simmons, on using his rubber bowling ball exclusively for 50 years: “I fully expect one day to throw the ball down there and it will split in half.”

Mike Weekley, who has rolled 10 perfect games: “I would like to say that anyone who has confidence in what they are doing can get a 300 whenever they want.”

Michelle Gardner, on nearly outscoring her son and ace bowler, Richie, when she bowled a career-high 219 in league play: “It was one of the first times we had bowled against each other. There was a lot of excitement with everyone looking at me trying to get my first 200. If I had struck out in the 10th frame, I would have beaten my son. I don’t know if we could have gone home together. He would never have been able to live that down.”

Randy Silverman, on watching the late Andy Varipapa perform a one-man, trick-shot exhibition at Mission Hills Bowl about 55 years earlier: “One thing that stands out in my mind is that he set up the 7-10 split with one pin (the seven) on one lane and another pin (the 10) on the lane to his right. He used two bowling balls, one in each hand, and he released the balls and they would cross each other. One ball would pick up the seven pin on the lane he was on and the other would cross the lane and pick up the 10 pin. He was spectacular.”

Theo Sojourn, on bowlers’ resilience: “Heart attacks, strokes and people come back to bowl. It’s just amazing that some people can get hurt and they have a chance in bowling to come back.”

Sami Rice, calling her husband Mike’s mental outlook a factor in his 288 game in which he opened with 10 strikes: “He keeps bowling better each year. He’s never bowled this well. He just doesn’t take the game as seriously as he did in his 100-some years of bowling.”

Pepsi Kuntz, on her first name: “I used to hate it. It was hard as a kid because adults and kids would make fun of it. I wanted to change it. But now I have a Pepsi tattoo and collect everything Pepsi,” adding that she even has a Pepsi bowling ball.

Keith Kitt, looking back at the May 31, 2009 closing of AMF Rocket Bowl in Chatsworth where he worked as the facility manager: “The center was part of the ‘Golden Age of Bowling.’ And it just added another chapter to the end of the era. It wasn’t so much a business as a gathering of friends. It was a watering hole of sorts. It was a place where the same people gathered for 52 weeks a year and they would come not planning to spend a dime as much as to engage and talk. When the center closed, that part of the Valley lost a watering hole of people wanting to gather. As a result, it took a toll on a lot of close-knit friendships.”

Kamie Katzarska, looking on the bright side after barely failing to break into triple figures during a league game: “Ninety-nine. That’s almost 100.”

Marshall Winer, on bowling on the same league team as the high-scoring trio of Ray Plasse, Jerry Simmons and Shawn Zaer: “Whenever someone asks me what my handicap is, I say, ‘It’s me.’”

Justin Adams, on bowling his first 300 game: “It was one of the coolest feelings. The last shots were gut-wrench-John Dela Rionda found his stride in the 10th frame ing. I literally took a lap around the bowling alley.”

John Dela Rionda, on his electrifying three strikes in the 10th frame by moving four boards to the right after a woeful first nine frames: “When things aren’t working, you have to do something.”

Gail Marlis, on switching to her left hand after incurring an injury to her right (throwing) arm: “Not bowling is not an option.”

Gail Marlis, again, on what bowling means to her: “Bowling is like my play date with my friends.”

Hollywood icon Susan Sarandon, promoting her worldwide ping-pong social clubs while at the same time taking a paddle to bowling: “You don’t have to wear someone else’s shoes.”

Top women’s bowling pro Diandra Asbaty, standing up for her sport: “I’ve been practicing since I was 5 years old and I’ve been playing tournaments. I sweat. I throw a 15-pound ball. I fail and I win. I want bowling to get the respect it deserves.”

newspaper reported.

“We knew the property was for sale. I know they recently dropped the price and that’s probably the reason it finally sold,” Vidad said. “Our landlord offered to sell the property to us but it was way too much for us. We aren’t investors. We don’t generate that kind of money to be able to purchase the property.

“It’s disappointing, but we knew it would sell at some point. It’s just unfortunate that this happened just as business was booming. This happened when we got the business up and going to finally become self-sufficient over the past couple of months.”

The original Revolutions Entertainment Center closed its doors abruptly in December 2011 because the owners failed to obtain long-term financing, according to the Desert Dispatch. Vidad and her team signed a lease to operate the then-defunct bowling center in 2013.

Vidad, one of the top women bowlers in the country, wrote on Facebook that “all good things must come to an end and sadly our lease will not be picked up by the new owner. Going to miss what we’ve built in Barstow with the great TEAM of employees that I consider family.

“Our bar-nightclub business is finally booming. Our last four months surpassed our whole first year in business.

“I’m going to miss our league bowlers and new bowlers we’ve developed into lifelong fans of our game/sport! And all those people that came to enjoy our beautiful sports bar and dance floor! Thank you Barstow!”

Revolutions Barstow Bowl serves the high-desert area, which includes such cities as Barstow and Victorville.

Earlier this month, it was reported that Del Rosa Lanes in San Bernardino was set to close.

California has been hard hit by the seemingly never-ending drumbeat of closings of bowling centers.

One of the biggest losses came one year ago when venerable Mission Hills Bowl in the San Fernando Valley closed on May 31. The bowling center, which was run by the late Bill Mossontte, had been open for nearly 41 years.

Several other California bowling centers also closed in 2015, including the distinctive Wagon Wheel Bowl in Oxnard, which had been in business in Ventura County since the 1950s.

a successful bowling career. In 1972, while bowling in a tournament in Southern Florida, he even won a brand-new car. He spent many a weekend driving all over the country competing in bowling tournaments.

His interests in these tournaments grew into a passion that he carried with him for many years until he finally realized that his experiences as a tournament bowler could help him to build a successful business in the bowling industry. He moved his family back to California in 1975, and within a couple of years he committed all of his time and efforts into operating the biggest and best bowling tournaments in the country.

He founded the Amateur Bowlers Tour (ABT) in Orange County, California and eventually developed it into a nationwide franchise with 36 offices nationwide. Ken's passion and hard work for the bowling business was unparalleled, and the ABT was thriving with massive tournaments and huge prize funds being paid out.

During the height of its popularity, Ken and Sylvia Daleiden were operating tournaments and opening new ABT offices across the country until Sylvia's sudden death in 1993. Ken continued to operate the ABT until he sold the franchise system in 2004.

Although Ken was officially retired in 2004, he did continue to help his son, John, in the operation of ABT Orange Country for a couple of years. In his retirement he also found time to bowl on occasion and enjoy time spent with his wife, Rose. He and Rose shared a common interest in bowling and his other passion, classic cars. They would spend numerous hours each day working on their cars together and getting them ready for car shows.

Ken's health started to decline when he developed problems with his kidneys and had to go to dialysis three time a week. During the final years of his life, Ken was able to recount so many great memories of a life filled with great friends, many of them coming from years running the Amateur Bowlers Tour (ABT).

Ken was a generous, loving, father, grandfather and husband and he will be greatly missed. A memorial service will be held at Westminster Memorial Park on Wednesday, May 18th from 5pm – 8pm. It will be a time to celebrate the life of a great man, my dad.

And Weber said his confidence will be soaring when he goes for a fourth consecutive title in Las Vegas in a couple of weeks.

"You know me and the majors. I love the majors," he said. "Having 17 days off before we bowl in Vegas is a big advantage to me. I'll be relaxed and ready to win again."

LeClair, in his second year of PBA50 competition, dominated the early matches, tripping PBA Hall of Famers Tom Baker of King, N.C., 258-247, and Walter Ray Williams Jr. of Oxford, Fla., 221-205, in the first two matches. LeClair then won a battle of New Yorkers in the semifinal contest, eliminating Ray Edwards of Middle Island, 238-184. The second Petraglia BVL Open, like its predecessor, raised nearly $50,000 in support of the nation's military veterans. "If we can keep raising that kind of money for the people who are protecting us every day, that's what it's all about," Petraglia said.

The entire tournament was video-streamed live on PBA's Xtra Frame online bowling channel. The PBA50 Tour's next Xtra Frame's event will be the Suncoast PBA Senior U.S. Open from Las Vegas, May 30-June 3.

NATIONAL DEAF BOWLING NEWS

STOGRYN LED DEAF TRAVEL SWEEPER WITH 257-881 AT LINBROOK LANES LEAGUE CHAMP S F VALLEY ALSO WINS TEAM SWEEPER

ANAHEIM — SoCal Deaf Traveling League finished its 56th season with a sweeper at Linbrook Bowling Center and the league champion S F Valley also won the six teams sweeper. In the singles and doubles sweeper Darrell Stogryn took most of the men's prizes and S F Valley's Sharon Caldwell was to top lady. (I do not have the list with me and will get it this week)

At Linbrook Stogryn scored a high whooper of roller coaster scores 257-185-254 in his 881 series to lead all bowlers. His opponent Ed Abakumoff followed with games of 221-211-182-219 for 833. S F Valley's captain Bob Jones came 5 pins short of the day's third 800 with 183-233-190-189 for 795. Others with notable scores were Robert Audette (195-196) 730, Gorman Low 206-726, Emad Aranki 204, Paul Taffolla, Jr. 202, Gardy Rodgers 201 and Sharon Caldwell being the day's high lady with 200 and 641 series..

The league distributed its points prize money and special prizes money and honors. In addition to its leading total points prize money the champion S F Valley (S. Caldwell, E. Aranki and B. Jones) got the champion's $75.00 prize. The $45.00 2nd place prize went to the runner-up Eagle Rock (B. Taylor, Taffolla, Jr and Sr) Team.

S F Valley also got the Team high series $30.00 prize for its 2266 score. Although S F Valley also had the high team game 614, it can not have both so the $30.00 team high game prize went to Anaheim (G. Rodgers, C. Salcedo and G. Low) Team's 586.

Special men Individual prize and the Charles Hart Trophy went to Stogryn for his high top average 205 and also other prizes for his high series 987, his most points 66 won. His most 200s games 37 and his most 800 series 7 bowled. Jones got the high game prize for his 279 and the most 700 series prize for his 11 700s. Randy Salazar got the men's most improved prize for his 10 pins and Paul Taffolla, Jr got the B most points won 54 and Nathan Caldwell got the prize for the most points won by a "C" Bowler.

The ladies prizes went to Celia Salcedo high average 149, high series 694, most improved woman +1and the woman most points won47. S. Caldwell had the season high game 208 prize and most 600 series bowled 6.

Congratulations to all winners.

One more for the over 70 gray gander.

LINDER'S INSURANCE CLINCHES WILD CARD ON FINAL NIGHT OF BRUNSWICK INVITATIONAL, TO COMPLETE THE SIX TEAM PLAYOFF FIELD

by Mike Cammarata

DOWNEY—Going into the final night of the season in the Brunswick Invitational, five of the six spots in the playoffs were accounted for by the round winners. The wild card spot was still up in the air, and two teams had a chance to win it. Linder's Insurance, with 108 wins, was in the driver's seat, but Ketel One Vodka was within striking distance at 105, and with the teams bowling each other, anything was possible. Ketel One would need to win four of the five possible points to catch Linder's, meaning they would need two games plus total pins.

The first game of the match saw Kevin Valmonte lead Linder's to the first of two wins they would need, as he shot 224 to help Linder's win by 57 pins. Anthony Santos pitched in a 204 game as well. Game two was much closer, but also saw Linder's come out on top with a 16 pin win. That second win clinched the wild card spot. Eddie Van Daniker, of Ketel One Vodka, shot 234 the second game, but simply couldn't do enough to hold off the steady scoring of Linder's. Linder's completed the sweep by winning the final game, and will now head into the playoffs that being in two weeks as the sixth seed. Anthony Santos' 626 led the way, with Valmonte right behind at 624.

In regards to the round winners, who finished up their season bowling for seeding in the playoffs, the first and second spots were both locked up going into the final night. The Professional Approach had clinched the #1 seed, and DV8 had clinched the two seed. With those spots locked, the bowled each other in a relatively meaningless match on Monday and DV8 took four out of five.

The third and fourth seeds were still to be determined. Don Julio Tequila was bowling against Cook's Bowling Supply to determine the final order. Cook's Bowling Supply was in need of a sweep if they were to move up a spot for the playoffs, as Don Julio started the night 4 ½ game ahead of them. Cook's got off to a great start, winning the first game by 136 pins, being led by Mikey Villarreal's 226 and getting 200+ from Matt Schermerhorn and Kerwin Fujikami. Don Julio ended any possible drama with a monster 2nd game though, shooting over 900 to win by plenty and clinch the 3rd seed for the playoffs. Bobby Campagnale left a 10 pin for 299, and had help from Dave March (229) and Buddy Lucas (216). Mikey Villarreal finished with a 289 in the third game for the win, but the match had already been determined.

There was close to $4300 in carry over's for the strike out pot heading into the final night. Each game would pay out $1433 to whoever was lucky enough to strike out on the challenging long oil pattern. In game one, Leonard Ruiz Jr. struck out, and nobody else was able to split that money with him, earning Leonard $1433. In game two, the was a split, with two people striking out for $717 each. Jamie Rovner, who I heard got some pretty fortunate carry on her last ball, and Eddie Van Daniker. The final game had only one person strike out again, and again it was Leonard Ruiz Jr. Another $1433 for him, bringing his total for the night to almost $3000 when you include an additional $100 for finishing 2nd in the Financial Advisors pot in game 2.

Aside from the strike out pot, there were the usual sidepots as well. Gabriel Martinez won the first game with 234. The 2nd game and the Financial Advisors pot went to Bobby Campagnale for his 299 game, earning him $289. Third game super pot was won by Mikey Villarreal for his 289 game, paying $207.

Sweepers is next week, and although we draw for the pattern to bowl on every year during sweeps, it's becoming tradition for round #3 to be the winner of that drawing. For the fourth straight year, the long oil will be on the lanes come sweeper night. In addition to traditional team, singles and doubles, there will be an additional $11,000 paid out from the Financial Advisors pot next week.

Come down and watch the action. Bowling starts at 8:30 p.m.
