How Should Bowlers Feel and Act Because Of The COVID-19 Pandemic

by Frank Weiler

Let's start by speaking of FEELINGS. Bowlers are human and like everyone else we have feelings. We are taught to not internalize or suppress our feelings. We should let our feelings out so as to avoid creating an unhealthy internal tension. An internal tension that could lead to the development of serious health problems. These health problems may include hypertension, heart disease and depression to name a few. GET IN TOUCH WITH YOUR FEELINGS. Express yourself.

During this COVID-19 pandemic we all have been deprived of our freedoms. We have been quarantined and deprived of BOWLING. For me and many like me life without BOWLING is discouraging and depressing. Some of us might even feel suicidal. The biggest part of our life has been removed like the surgical extraction of a major organ. For many, removing BOWLING from their life is like removing their heart.

Removing the heart of one's life (BOWLING) should evoke strong feelings of loss, frustration and even depression. Bowlers are human and it's okay to feel frustrated, and depressed. When you feel this way don't hesitate to talk to friends and family about your feelings. It's good therapy and it's free!

It's okay to feel the way we do about BOWLING. It's okay to tell others how we feel about BOWLING. I think that's what is meant when the experts say: "I'M OKAY, YOU'RE OKAY, WE ARE OKAY".

However, you feel about the current situation, remember that there is no correct or right way to feel about this whole mess. With that in mind we should all relax and feel optimistic. We know that BOWLING will be back.

Now that you know that all feelings about the pandemic are valid and okay, it's time to discuss how we should act and what we should do as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic.

First, let's be GRATEFUL for what we have. Surviving the pandemic both health wise and financially will be something to celebrate. Years from now we will have stories to tell future generations about our days of isolation and self quarantine. Stories of toilet paper shortages, restaurant and church closures, and social distancing. Stories to tell of acts of kindness and acts of bravery by our healthcare workers and first responders.

Many of us, including myself, take the people around us for granted. We overlook what our loved ones have done for us. Now, during this time of isolation, we should take the opportunity to spend some time with our loved ones. Let's be brave and tell them we love them. There

Rash Survives Early Rolloff, Wins Summer Clash

by Lucas Wiseman

JUPITER, Fla. – After surviving an eight-round sudden-death rolloff in Round 2, Sean Rash went on to win the 2020 PBA Summer Clash and the $20,000 top prize.

Rash, a 15-time PBA Tour champion, outlasted nine other PBA and PWBA pros at Bowlero Jupiter to claim first place in the special made-for-TV event at Bowlero Jupiter.

The opening round of the event featured all 10 bowlers completing a full 10th frame with the lowest score eliminated. After that, it went to one-shot rounds until Rash was crowned the eventual champion.

In the final round, Rash took down Bill O'Neill to pick up the victory. Both players struck on their first shot, forcing a rolloff. Rash went first and struck, but O'Neill was unable to match, leaving a 4-7 combination to lose.

Rash faced his toughest challenge in just the second round of the competition against Shawn Maldonado as he survived an eight-shot rolloff to stay alive.

"The key was just being patient," Rash said. "What a Round 2 against Maldonado. That really loosened up the swing. When you get in rolloffs, you get nervous and you want to put the pressure on. It's nice to go first. I think sometimes it gives you an advantage."

In the eighth round, Anthony Simonsen's incredible run of throwing a backup ball came to an end when he left a high six pin in the first rolloff to be eliminated. Simonsen finished third.

EJ Tackett finished

Summer Clash Champion Sean Rash

fourth after being knocked out in the seventh round. Needing a strike to advance or nine to tie, Tackett went high and left a 3-6 to end his run.

Kyle Troup finished fifth, Danielle McEwan was sixth, Tommy Jones took seventh, Kris Prather finished in eighth, Maldonado was ninth and Shannon O'Keefe ended up 10th. In the opening round, which featured all 10 bowlers completing a full 10th frame, O'Keefe was eliminated after posting a score of 19.

Seven of the 10 players posted perfect scores of 30 in the first round, while O'Keefe went wide on her first shot missing the headpin but eventually leaving just the 2-4 combination. She made the spare but left a 10 pin on her fill ball and was eliminated at the end of the round.

BREAKPOINT – JEFF TAINO – XFRAME BOWLING TOUR

by Bette Addington, California Bowling Writers

WEST COVINA – Jeff Taino got hooked on the sport of bowling in the late '90s when he was in his mid-to-late 30's. Born in the Philippines, he immigrated to the United States and California in 1984. He went on to become a Mechanical Engineer and currently works for an Engineering company in Corona. But, meeting up with ABTA's Bob Smith at Colima Lanes in the late 90's brought this league bowler into not only competing in ABTA events, but watching and learning from one of the best how to run events successfully. Meanwhile, Taino won 7 ABTA titles and multiple ABT Championships competing from 2000 through 2015.

Taino was enjoying bowling more and more and not just because he was having success on the lanes, he said, "Bowling is very good. It is family oriented. Love the sport, because you meet a lot of good people.

Bowling is good for children too. And you meet people at a lot of different levels in the sport."

Jeff got more and more involved and with the blessing of Bob Smith, who started XFrame Bowling Tour, he became the owner of it in 2017. Smith helped Taino through the transition as well as Vuong Do. Taino also has a partner, Renan Cruz. Renan's wife, Cecile Cruz, is responsible for taking care of all XFrame accounting and documentations. And Jeff's wife, Cindy, helps with the tournament in many areas. In March 2017, he hosted his first XFrame tournament at the Arcadia Bowling Square. Entries were slow at first, but Taino was diligent and started promoting XFrame and scheduling tournaments every week with a guaranteed prize fund regardless of entries and an affordable entry fee. Bowlers came and XFrame was off and running!

Randy Pedersen (L) with Jeff Taino back in 2013.

These days, XFrame Bowling Tour is known all around southern California. And, Bob Smith still shows up from time to time to help. XFrame was known as a handicap tournament but at the end of last year XFrame added the scratch division just before the lockdown.

XFrame also has separate men's and women's divisions as well as men and women senior division. Jeff added, "I want everyone to have a chance!"

Hello Bowlers...

We hope to be printing copies of the Bowling News as soon as you are back on the lanes. In the meantime, we welcome your stories. Maybe the history of your centers, interesting bowlers or your favorite moment on the lanes.

Pictures are always fun. You don't have to be a great writer, just a desire to keep in touch.

So You Think You Know Bowling?
Take This Test and Find Out!

by Fred Eisenhammer

So you recently rolled a career best or a 200 game and believe you’ve become a bowling bigwig? Try this bowling quiz and see if you’re really as knowledgeable about the sport as you think. To get into the mood, here’s some bowling humor:
“Strikes are like a hot date – they’re satisfying and make you want a lot more.” And:
“Getting strikes is like lining up a great date; you need a smart approach and a terrific follow through.”
Now that you’re ready (hopefully!), here’s a quiz to test your bowling IQ:

- 1 – What is a “field goal?”

a) A score of three pins in a frame
b) Three strikes in a row
c) Three strikes in the 10th frame
d) A ball rolled between two pins of a wide split without knocking down either pin
- 2 – What is a “clean game?”

a) A game in which a bowler shoots 10 open frames
b) A game in which a player scores a strike or a spare in every frame
c) A game in which all four bowlers on a team finish with the same score
d) A game in which a team “mops up” the opposition and wins by at least 100 pins
- 3 – When the New York City WTT KingPins claimed the inaugural Professional Bowlers Assn. League title, who was the team’s owner?

a) Bobby Riggs
b) Billie Jean King
c) Chris Paul
d) Jason Belmonte
- 4 – What is the “Big Lebowski” festival?

a) An annual celebration of the 1996 slapstick bowling movie, “Kingpin,” which starred Woody Harrelson, Randy Quaid and Bill Murray.
b) An annual celebration of Jeff Lebowski’s 900 series
c) An annual celebration of the bowling comedy, “The Big Lebowski”
d) An annual celebration honoring Jeff Lebowski, a professional wrestler who went on to star on the PBA tour
- 5 – Who starred in “The Big Lebowski?”

a) Jeff Bridges
b) Lloyd Bridges
c) Beau Bridges
d) London Bridges
- 6 – What is “Grandma’s teeth?”

a) A random group of pins that is left standing from end to end
b) Another term for the 7-10 split that occurs after a slow-moving and lightweight ball enters the “mouth” of the pins
c) A shot with very little “bite” to it and ricochets off the pins and rolls back to the bowler
d) An elderly woman who is a “ringer” filling in as a substitute for a team
- 7 – What is “smashmouth bowling?”

a) Bowling before the pins are re-set
b) When a muscular player uses a lightweight ball
c) Aiming a blazing fastball at the head pin
d) A shot that hits the head pin and leaves the 4-6-7-10 split
- 8 – What is a “turkey?”

a) Three spares in a row
b) Three strikes in a row
c) A bowler who lets his or her team down in the 10th frame
d) A league bowler who continually bowls on the wrong lane
- 9 – What is a “perfect game?”

a) A score of 300, or 12 strikes in a row
b) A score of 300, or 10 strikes in a row
c) A score of 200
d) A score that is exactly that of a bowler’s average
- 10 – What is an “anchor?”

a) The last person to bowl for a team in league play. This player is usually the best bowler and most clutch performer on the team.
b) A bowler whose abnormally low scores keep the team from winning.
c) Another term for the 7-10 split
d) A league bowler who keeps spilling his or her drink on the bowling surface
- Extra Credit – What did Scott Englehart and his father, Johnnie, do at Winnetka Bowl seven years ago that was so exceptional?

a) Scott bowled his first perfect game and first 800 series (802: 245, 257, 300) on the same night that his father also rolled a 300 game and 800 series (805: 300, 237, 268) – and at the same bowling house (Winnetka Bowl).
b) Both son and father converted the 7-10 split on the same night
c) Both son and father bowled a perfect game and converted the 7-10 split on the same night

Here are the answers:
1d; 2b; 3b; 4c; 5a; 6a; 7c; 8b; 9a; 10a; Extra credit a.
Scoring:
9-11 correct: A kingpin
7-8: A bowling expert
5-6: Still learning the game
0-4: Needs to enroll in a bowling class

PBA Strike Derby Did Not Impress

by Dave Williams

JUPITER, Fla. — On Saturday, June 6th, I was looking forward to the first ever PBA Strike Derby on the Fox Sports Network. I had completed all of my errands and other chores for the day and was preparing for an eventful evening of rigatoni with freshly roasted garlic and meat sauce and enjoying bowling action under a new format.

As I had indicated two weeks ago, the format did not completely excite me, as the new event seemed to be replacing the quality of shot making with quantity of shots, but I was nevertheless interested in viewing the new concept. Unfortunately, I did not make it through the first round, either as a consequence of the event, or all of that fresh garlic that I had prepared to go with my meal... and I awoke just in time for the trophy presentation at the conclusion of the show.

Watching many of the pros take their shots (before I fell asleep) reminded me of open bowlers here in New Jersey that are more concerned with the number of rolls of the ball that they can get rather than their score. A deskman that works at one of the centers that I frequent calls it "speed bowling." I don't know if the Strike Derby is a consequence of this new phenomenon in bowling centers, but it certainly did bear a striking resemblance to the New Jersey speed bowlers!

Kris Prather, eventual winner of the strike fest, credited his shot making ability for winning the event. "I really emphasized quality over quantity, and it worked to my advantage," said the 28 year old resident of Plainfield, Illinois. "Pacing myself throughout the entire event also benefitted me." For his efforts, Prather received the first-place prize of $25,000, outdistancing runner-up Anthony Simonsen of Little Elm, Texas, 7 strikes to 6. Simonsen received $10,000 for second.

While reviewing my notes for this article I was reminded of my own bowling career and the preparation that I used to make ready for league and tournament bowling. My practice sessions were a strike derby of sorts, although I did take the time to locate my feet on the approach and make an effort to arrange my thought process before addressing the pins.

I never told anyone this, except for Jim Dressel (former editor of the Bowlers Journal) and Bob Johnson (current editor of BCM Magazine and former editor of The California Bowling News), probably because I didn't think that anyone would believe me, but my goal in virtually every practice session was to roll 12 consecutive strikes. It could take as few as three games, or as many as ten or more, but usually it took around six games before I connected on 12 consecutive strikes. This is also known as a "Varipapa 300," after Hall of Fame member Andy Varipapa, who counted any twelve consecutive strikes as a 300, even if it was over the course of two games.

Two other forms of preparation that I used before bowling outings were: 1) visualization, or actually going into a type of dream about playing a certain line or reviewing my approach; and 2) playing some basketball, which like bowling, can be done individually or in a team setting. In basketball, my goal was to connect on 8 out of 10 free throws. This could usually be achieved within the course of an hour, along with some layups to strengthen my legs.

Another famous bowler that I had occasion to witness with a unique practice regimen was Earl Anthony. When AMF purchased New Frontier Lanes in Tacoma, Washington, Earl came with the package. The owners, Ted Tadich and Rose Magrini, made certain that Mr. Anthony could continue to practice for free when they sold the center to AMF. Earl even had his own key!

Almost every morning following his overnight supermarket shift, and before the bowling center had opened, Anthony could be seen throwing his first shot at the seven pin, and then aiming for a strike on the second shot. This could have accomplished a couple of things for Earl... a tremendous amount of practice at the seven pin, and never having to be disgruntled by leaving seven pins on a strike shot. In either case, his speed control had to be his secret weapon, making the most subtle of moves that went unnoticed because of his repetitious approach.

Anthony's free practice, and keys to the front door, remained in effect for the remainder of that season, but then AMF put a stop to his unlimited free practice, and he then began his early morning practice sessions at Pacific Lanes, another local Tacoma center.

Will the PBA Strike Derby continue? My personal vote would be to get back to a more traditional form of competition, where there's a premium on shot making. Jackpot Bowling, Pin Point Bowling, and especially Make That Spare would be excellent made for television shows to resurrect, in my opinion. But the jury is still out on the PBA Strike Derby...

The image displays five logos arranged in two rows. The top row features the Parkin's Bowling Supply logo on the left, which includes a star graphic with a bowling ball and pins, and the text "PARKIN'S BOWLING SUPPLY". To its right is the K2 Strong logo, which has a stylized "K2" with a red "X" over it, an American flag, and the text "K2 Strong" and "BAGS DESIGNED & ASSEMBLED IN THE USA". The bottom row features the Coolwick logo in a blue script font on the left, and the VISE logo in a black and white stylized font on the right. Below these is a dark blue banner with the USRES LENDING logo, which includes a house icon and the text "USRES LENDING".

is no better time then now to reconnect with family and friends. Show them some gratitude.

Second, start planning for the future. Make the necessary changes in your lifestyle to adapt to tomorrow’s brave new world. Adjust what you can. DON’T WORRY about what you can’t control.

Finally, relax and RECONNECT WITH YOURSELF. Try meditation. Remember the past, recall the good times. Be confident that the good times will return. Think about our circumstances. We are all privileged to be living in the best of times in human history. No past generation, no past nation, no past people have lived better than the life we’ve led in this country during the past few decades. No past king or queen has lived with the luxuries and modern conveniences that are a part of our every day lives. We have air-conditioning, television, Internet, air travel, automobiles and the best foods and beverages ever seen on this planet. THESE ARE THE BEST OF TIMES, so relax and enjoy the ride.
