RON ZURN Leads Cal Oak's Summer Bowlers With 238 Average

by Frank Weiler

MURRIETA — My friend SANDY WHITE contacted me recently to tell me about Ron Zurn. Sandy is the Citrus Belt USBC House Representative for Cal Oaks Bowl and secretary for the Country Express League. Ron bowls in her league and is the highest scorer she has ever seen. That is saying a lot, since Sandy has been a league officer for many moons and observed thousands of bowlers.

After talking to Sandy, I made a trip to Cal Oaks on Thursday night to see Ron Zurn bowl. His accuracy and consistency was obvious. Every shot I saw was right over the thirty-five board. Oh, I mean the five board. Ron is a lefty. He is a shorter version of PBA Champion Steve Cook. Ron is a hefty lefty, carrying a solid 220 pounds very well, on a six foot frame.

Ron's size allows him to generate a great deal of ball speed. In my opinion, his high strike rate appears to be a product of his consistent accuracy and ball speed. I did not observe him applying a great deal of revolutions to the bowling ball. Ron is no Earl Anthony, instead his style gravitates between that of Mike Scroggins

GALLO WITH 300 / 1943 QUALIFIED & CASHED

IN PBA SOUTH REGION CHEETAH OPEN

SPRING HILL, FL...With luck, this writer found the deaf PBA bowler Frank Gallo, Jr. as one of the 83 entrants scheduled to bowl on July 20-22 in PBA South Region Spring Hill, FL Cheetah Open at Spring Hill Lanes. The Cheetah is high scoring 35 feet pattern and that was why on the Saturday 21st 8 games qualifying round it took a 1860 (232.5 ave.) to make the top 16 cut for the match plays.

Happily Gallo, Jacksonville, FL rolled a 300 in his 8 games 1943 total (242 ave.) to qualify in 5th place. The top qualifier for the 12 games match plays was Walter R. Williams, Jr., Ocala, FL with a booming 2013 (251.6 ave.) total.

Unfortunately just like the last time in PBA South Region Chameleon Open Gallo did poorly in the match plays and dropped down to 15th place with 20 games total with bonus points 4429.

Gallo got $545.00 and it is not known what he got for the only 300 in this tournament.

The event winner was a non PBA member and Spring Hill Lanes guest bowler Jason Mahr, Spring Hill, FL with 5378 for 22 games. The top seed after 12 games Match Play was W. R. Williams, Jr. who lost to Mahr and placed 2nd with 5200 for 21 games. Mahr got the title and $2,500 and Williams Jr got $1,300 for 2nd.

Now with the final 3 PBA Senior Tour events resuming in August, we will see Gallo bowling in all three.

1ST ANNUAL INTERNATIONAL MIXED INDIVIDUAL DEAF BOWLING CLASSIC

LAS VEGAS...It was a surprise when Bob Jones showed me the advertisement in the Bowling News about a deaf international bowling classic being held in Las Vegas at the Orleans on July 29. Bob was curious about who is running this tournament. No names or host club was shown as responsible for this tournament. We never saw any flyers of the classic circulated here.

Maybe the flyers were already circulated earlier in other cities East. Anyway, the date is too soon for many to prepare to go to Las Vegas.

Good luck to whoever is directing this tournament and I would appreciate the results so I can write about it in my column.

FAMILIES THAT BOWL TOGETHER
EARN SCHOLARSHIP MONEY

Youth From Across America Bowl For Thousands In College Money At International Family Tournament

ARLINGTON, TX — Some 60 teams representing 25 states are expected to descend upon Jupiter Lanes, Jupiter, Fla., July 26-29, 2012 to bowl for $70,000 in scholarship money at the International Family Tournament (IFT) presented by QubicaAMF and hosted by the Bowling Proprietors' Association of America.

The annual parent-student scholarship tournament is the only sporting event in the United States in which parents, grandparents, stepparents and the like can participate with youth and teens for a chance at an international championship and college scholarship money. To get to the finals, contestants from across North America compete in state competitions to qualify for a trip to the IFT and a shot at scholarship dollars. Teams compete in two divisions: Parent/Youth (ages 11 and under) and Parent/Teen divisions (ages 12 and older). Each division's top 8-teams after Friday's competition advance to a match play final round on Saturday morning. At the conclusion of the 8 games of match play, the top three teams in each division then compete in the stepladder finals to decide the titles Saturday afternoon, July 28.

Both first-place teams each win $5,000 scholarships to go towards their college education. Overall, scholarships totaling $70,000 will be distributed. Additional scholarships of $500 each for boys and girls in each division are awarded to Youth and Teen Division bowlers with the highest six-game scratch total during the qualifying round.

The IFT is but one of many scholarship opportunities for youth bowlers. As an industry, bowling offers over $6 million in scholarship money each year through proprietors, bowling associations, councils and certified tournaments around the United States.

The Embassy Suites in Palm Beach Gardens is the host hotel for the finalists. There will be a welcome reception with entertainment and a buffet dinner Thursday evening and after Friday's competition, the teams will be treated to a Safari Night at the Palm Beach Zoo. During the break Saturday there will be a trick shot demonstration by PBA Hall of Famer Norm Duke and the weekend will conclude with an awards banquet Saturday evening at the hotel.

The Perfect Game

by Steve Felege
(creativity by Carol Mancini)

Carol: I had an idea for our column this week, you know, something a little different.
Steve: Every week is different, Carol. My only question is; how much is this one going to hurt me?
Carol: Not at all. Where do get those ideas?
Steve: Voice of experience, Carol.... just the voice of experience.
Carol: My thought was to do a six-in-sixty.
Steve: Six in sixty?
Carol: Yeah, I was watching a news show by accident and they had this maniac answering six questions in sixty seconds. It was actually fun to watch, so I thought I'd try that with you.
Steve: Piece of cake!
Carol: There's a catch. If you can't answer all six, you give up this week's pay.
Steve: Do I have a choice?
Carol: Not if you hope to ever see Pennsylvania again.
Steve: Then let's do it.
Carol: Let me know when you're ready.
Steve: I'm ready.
Carol: Your knuckles are turning white.
Steve: I'M READY!
Carol: You know, it's not good for teeth to clench them like that.
Steve: Carrrol.....
Carol: Okay, here goes. Dean, start the timer! Question number one: Who are better bowlers; men or women?
Steve: Men! Next question.
Carol: Sorry, I didn't catch that.
Steve: I said men are better bowlers....
Carol: I'm really sorry, but I can't quite hear you.
Steve: I SAID, MEN ARE.....
Carol: Ahem!
Steve: Oh, I said, women are definitely better bowlers than men.
Carol: Oh, that was much better. This will go a lot faster if you speak clearly. Question number two: Where do the best bowlers come from: California or Pennsylvania?
Steve: Pennsylv.
Carol: Ahem.....
Steve: Penn....
Carol: AHEM! Sorry, I have a tickle in my throat. Maybe I'm catching a cold. Your answer is.....
Steve: California! The best bowlers in the world come from California! Los Angeles to be exact!
There, are you happy?
Carol: Question three: Who is the best writer covering the sport of bowling today?
Steve: Chuck Pezzano. He is the most gifted, thoughtful, articulate....
Carol: Never heard of him! Try again.
Steve: But you run his articles!
Carol: TRY.....AGAIN!
Steve: Uh, oookayyy, um, the very best writer in the sport of bowling today is....Oh, of course, it's Carol Mancini! TA DA!
Carol: Never heard of her either, but we're running out of time here, so we'll just go with that.
Question number four: Who are better bowlers...
Timer: BLEEEEEEEEEEP!
Dean: Sorry, kids! Time's up. Wow Steve, you didn't even come close!
Steve: But.....
Carol: Rules are rules. You only collect if you answer all six questions.
Steve: But.....
Carol: Care for a rematch?
Steve: A rematch?
Carol: Next week. Same time, same place. Six questions, six answers in sixty seconds! Double or nothing!
Steve: On one condition. You don't interrupt and you have to accept my first answer.
Carol: That's two conditions, but it's fair. We have a deal. See you next week. Don't go away mad!
Dean: Carol, you're grinning again.
Carol: Oh, this is just too easy.
Dean: He's never going to learn, is he?
Carol: Let's hope not!

Editor's note: The views and opinions expressed by Steve are his and his alone. They do not necessarily represent the views and opinions of this proud publication. Very little coercion or manipula-

BOHN, AULBY, WISEMAN TO ASSIST WITH INDIANAPOLIS FUND-RAISING EVENTS

PBA Hall of Famers Parker Bohn III and Mike Aulby will once again be the celebrity pro bowlers for the 11th annual Jeff Gordon Children’s Foundation Charity Bowling Tournament July 26 in Indianapolis. The fundraising event, which will be held at Western Bowl in conjunction with NASCAR’s Brickyard 400, benefits the Jeff Gordon Children’s Foundation Pediatric Cancer Research Fund at Riley Hospital and the Wells Center for Pediatric Research at the Indiana University School of Medicine. In the 10 tournaments held to date, more than $2 million has been raised.

Baltimore’s Danny Wiseman is lending his support to another Indianapolis fundraiser hosted by midget race car driver Dillon Welch. Welch’s “Bowling with the Stars” fund-raiser will take place on Sunday, Aug. 26, at Woodland Bowl and will benefit “Sheltering Wings” which provides services to domestic abuse victims in central Indiana.

Wiseman also is conducting his inaugural Danny Wiseman Junior Scholarship Tournament on Sunday, Oct. 14, at AMF Country Club Lanes in Baltimore. For more information about Wiseman’s charitable activities, visit dannyywisemanbowling.com.

and Mike Aulby.

I look forward to the publication of the Annual Citrus Belt Average Book next month because I hear that Mr. Zurn may have set a new Citrus Belt high average record. When the book is published, I plan to report whether Ron is the Citrus Belt high average bowler for this past season and whether he did set a new record. My thanks go to the BOWLING NEWS for recognizing the accomplishments of Citrus Belt keglery.

Bowling News is proud to bring you....

Chuck Pezzano

Dean of Bowling Writers, PBA & USBC Hall of Fame

There are few, if any, bowlers who can’t improve their game, and I write that even with the full knowledge that there are bowlers averaging better than 230 and 240 and even higher.

And yet there are many who never rolled a 240 game, much less attain a 240 average.

And there are many, no matter how many games they roll, no matter how much instruction they take, backing, personal and financial, who can attain professional proficiency.

Pros come in assorted ability. Some have great physical games, others great mental attitude, most a combinatin of the various factors that make for a pro in any endeavor. With that goes the hard to rate heart and desire to attempt what is a changing scene, a continuing challenge and a long shot gamble.

You don’t see it but one thing they all have in common is that not a single one arrived there easily and without work, hard work.

You don’t inherit bowling ability even though the genes might be there for starters. There are no silver platters full of strikes and spares for the asking or buying. Time, effort, money, personal sacrifice of not only the bowler, but of others close to him or her, family, friends and fans, old and new, all figure in the picture.

At times the chase is more interesting and rewarding than the capture, even when you are fully serious. When you aren’t really serious then the talk of the chase is the thing, and oddly, might even bring the same satisfaction as making the try. If you can’t do your thing, then you can enjoy talking about why you can’t do your thing.

We are all frustrated in some area of life, regardless of how successful we might be in another.

It isn’t all bad to suffer some frustration. Then you can better evaluate the high hopes we harbor, the ones that might be dashed should be given the full opportunity to do what we think we can do. If you are never given or able to take a chance what could have been always remains and you really don’t have the answer.

Many who try pro bowling don’t make it and had little chance from the start but they did get an answer. We should never knock those who don’t make it .They will always outnumber those that do succeed. It comes down to those who try and succeed or fail, but eithr way they learn that elusive answer.

And they well know that a star pro bowler, those just below and those who on the border line of making it or not are true athletes, worthy of ever consideration.

Poeple don’s always like to look in mirrors, and at times don’t want answers.

Aspiring pro bowlers do look in mirrors and for career answers.

WELCOME

PBA, Shamrock Sports and Entertainment Forge New Marketing Alliance

New partnership to focus on creating new bonds with corporate America

SEATTLE – The Professional Bowlers Association has retained Portland, Maine-based Shamrock Sports and Entertainment to provide strategic marketing and sponsorship development services for the world’s largest professional bowling program.

The joint announcement was made Monday by PBA CEO Geoff Reiss and Shamrock’s President & Founder, Brian Corcoran.

“Re-defining what the PBA has to offer to marketers is fundamental to our success and represents a huge growth opportunity for us,” Reiss said. “Working with Shamrock will kick start our ability to develop programs that will demonstrate that the PBA offers unparalleled value to its partners.

“The PBA has concluded Shamrock is the partner we believe will elevate the PBA brand. Brian’s record of success in other sports, including NASCAR, is exactly the kind of success story we plan to develop as part of our new relationship with America’s business leaders.”

Shamrock is a privately-owned sports marketing and sales agency led by Corcoran, a former NASCAR and Fenway Sports Group Executive. At NASCAR, Corcoran spearheaded efforts to land the largest sports sponsorship in U.S. history with the series entitlement of the NASCAR Nextel Cup Series, reported at $750 million, that later evolved into the NASCAR Sprint Cup Series.

“The heart of our business is developing profitable partnerships between brands and properties to generate excitement beyond what either could achieve on its own,” Corcoran said. “Shamrock is not in the business of sponsorship; we are in the business of creating strategic and mutually rewarding partnerships. Our goal is to optimize the assets of our partners and establish value in their brands.

“We don’t acquire rights, we activate rights,” he added. “We don’t buy impressions, we create experiences. We don’t showcase brands, we communicate brand values.”

Shamrock’s current client roster includes the Boston Athletic Association, which conducts the Boston Marathon; Seaworld Parks and Entertainment; Richard Childress Racing; the Millrose Games and the Arena Football League, among others.

Shamrock’s immediate priorities are to enhance and extend the PBA brand through entitlement partnership programs and other initiatives.

Initially, Corcoran and Shamrock Executive Vice President Dan Gacetta will oversee the PBA partnership.

“We are extremely excited to forge a partnership with the PBA, which represents the elite of the world’s more than 90 million bowling participants,” Corcoran said. “Bowling is without question the largest competitive sport in the world. It has unlimited potential. Our goal will be to tap that potential by providing participants and corporate partners with unmatched experiences and value.”

For more information on the PBA and partnership opportunities, contact Corcoran (bc@shamrockse.com) or Gacetta (dg@shamrockse.com) by email or by telephone at 207-899-0490.

Who Will Be the Newest Breakout Star in PBA World Series of Bowling IV?

Entries now open for fourth annual multi-event international competition in Las Vegas

SEATTLE – Over the past three seasons, the Professional Bowlers Association World Series of Bowling has served as the career launching pad for an increasing number of bowlers from around the world.

As of today, PBA members from the United States and internationally can get a head start on the 2012-13 PBA Tour season by entering World Series of Bowling IV, which returns to South Point Bowling Center in Las Vegas Nov. 2-11.

The WSOB got its start in 2009 in suburban Detroit where players including Bill O’Neill of Langhorne, Pa.; Tom Smallwood of Saginaw, Mich., and Ryan Ciminelli of Cheektowaga, N.Y., announced their arrivals as emerging PBA stars. In 2010, the WSOB moved to Las Vegas where Scott Norton of Costa Mesa, Calif.; two-hander Osku Palermaa of Finland, and unsung Yong-Jin Gu of South Korea made their impressions on the PBA Tour.

In 2011, the international influence that has become the hallmark of the World Series made its most profound statement. England’s Stuart Williams and Dom Barrett, Australian two-hander Jason Belmonte, Colombia’s Andres Gomez and Palermaa combined to sweep the seven individual championships contested at South Point.

For Ciminelli, the World Series concept has been a yardstick for measuring his career in a number of ways. In Detroit, at age 23, he made a breakthrough with second-place finishes in the Cheetah (a ground-breaking documentary-style event) and Viper Championships, and later in the season made his third ESPN television appearance when he finished third in the USBC Masters.

His second World Series was, in his words, “Terrible.” But his humbling experiences in Las Vegas also turned his career around. Immediately following WSOB II, he won the Earl Anthony Memorial for his first PBA Tour title, and he has become a contending factor in almost every PBA Tour event he has bowled since then. In addition to that title, Ciminelli has another pair of runner-up finishes, including one in the 2012 PBA Tournament of Champions where he lost to eventual PBA Player of the Year Sean Rash, 239-205.

“My experience at South Point that first year really helped,” Ciminelli said. “I wasn’t prepared for what needed to be done. I found out you don’t have time to make mistakes in the short-format events. But it was my own fault. Looking back, I learned tricks with my feet, hand position, ball choices, so the next time around, I put myself into a better position to succeed.

“It’s hard out here on Tour. There’s a lot of pressure, but the experience you gain from bowling everything you can, and learning to believe in yourself makes it all worthwhile,” he added. “And it makes for exciting bowling, that’s for sure.”

Will international players maintain their dominance? World Series of Bowling IV – the third consecutive multi-event bowling extravaganza hosted by South Point – will provide them with five opportunities. The 2012 event will feature four PBA “animal pattern” championships along with the 2012-13 season’s first major, the PBA World Championship, and more than $600,000 in prize money.

The package of events will include six ESPN television events, including the 2012 WTBA World Bowling Tour Men’s and Women’s Finals presented by the PBA (WBT finalists will be determined based upon points compiled over a span of two seasons in designated WTBA international tournaments).

The World Series will be open exclusively to “full” PBA members and PBA International members. The PBA International membership program, introduced earlier in 2012, allows international players an opportunity to compete for PBA Tour titles in WTBA-PBA international tournaments as well as domestic events.

Entries are now being accepted online via pba.com, or by calling Membership Services at 206-332-9688. The field for the World Series is limited on a first-come basis to the first 240 players who enter. The entry deadline is Oct. 26 or when the field fills (whichever comes first).

For a $750 entry fee a player is entered into the Cheetah, Viper, Chameleon and Scorpion Championships plus the World Championship. Qualifying totals from the four animal pattern events will determine the players advancing to the PBA World Championship final rounds.

In addition to the PBA Tour events, the World Series will include the All-Region South Point Open, PBA West Region Member/Non-Member Doubles and a special winner-take-all Xtra Frame “All-In Showdown.” The special events, which are open to non-members as well as PBA Regional members, require additional entry fees.

All participants will be eligible for discounted room rates of $48 weekdays and $88 weekends at South Point Hotel through Nov. 12. To lock in the special rates, rooms must be reserved by Oct. 12. To make reservations visit www.southpointcasino.com or call 866-791-7626 and use entry code “PBA World Series of Bowling” for special rates.

The World Series of Bowling, which last year attracted more than 200 players from a record 15 different countries, will get underway with an open practice session on Friday, Nov. 2. Over the next four days, competitors will bowl qualifying sessions in the Cheetah, Viper, Chameleon and Scorpion Championships, respectively. At the conclusion of each daily qualifying round, the top 16 players will advance to an additional eight-game qualifying session to determine the four players who will advance to the ESPN stepladder finals. ESPN finals will be recorded for delayed broadcast. Dates and times for telecasts will be announced later. PBA’s Xtra Frame online bowling channel also will provide more than 100 hours of live coverage during the event.

SO, OK ROCKY MARSH TRIOS -- HERE'S YOUR QUIZ FOR THE WEEK...

by Joy McGregor

ANAHEIM — I am 60 feet long, 42 inches wide, have a hard, synthetic (kinda like Botox) surface, am considered (in some circles) a senior, am used (sometimes abused) but, refreshed at least once a day to retain a “youthful glow”. You better have guessed who, or rather what, I am; if not, you DO need a lot of practice! Ok, okay now that I’ve captured the attention of most of you bowlers -- WHAT is your problem? I crave high scores ... not just the odd few high games of late, although they have been nice. Butconsistency is the solution to my unhappiness. Now, “Go out there and get-r-dun”! Nuff said, Linbrook bowlers are the “Best” -- prove it!!

Noteworthy scores: Larry Nordstrom 251/863, Larry Green 237/849, John Phillips 227/840, Anderson Alcaraz 247/838, Ron Douglass 266/835, Alan Bloom 227/832, Orlando Vanegas 236/820, Tony Chaco 235/820, Jim Moore 268/814, Juan San- doval 228/812, Janet Anderson 270/807, Shig Shoji 224/807, Frank Bellinder 237/806, James Blythe 232/802, Mike West 266, Terry Dickerson 256, E.J. Rogers 244, Rose Williams 235, April Anderson 234, Gino Vassallo 234, Don Boaz 227, Dick McK- enzie 225, Mark Allen 225, Jerry Roddam 225, Don Gut-Omen 224, Terry Brent 224, Steve Basdakakis 223, Ed Hermance 214, Bob Gosnell 214, Gloria Ferrulli 214, Norm Walker 214, Kantral Williams 213, Hong Kha 213, Don Gardner 213, Aaron Wilson 213, Eric Kim 212, Cheryl Munson 212, Rich Heid 212, Alexis Adinolfi 210 and Bob Awalt 205.

Be vigil and on the look-out for higher scores. Until next week...

Bowler of the Week: It's a wild week and we have to compliment Travis and Pat Moya who after a 12 year hiatus have decided to become league bowlers once again. Last week Travis shot a 632 and Pat a 671. This shows that our junior league program really works even if it takes over a decade to show results. Great bowling guys.

Sweetness Quote of the Week: “I play to win, whether during practice or a real game. And I will not let anything get in the way of me and my competitive enthusiasm to win.” - Michael Jordan
