Walter Ray Williams Jr. Sweeps 2012 PBA Senior Tour Stats

NORWALK — After dominating the season statistical categories for more than two decades on the PBA Tour, PBA Hall of Famer Walter Ray Williams Jr. of Ocala, Fla., is doing more of the same as a member of the PBA Senior Tour.

Williams, who won his first PBA Senior Player of the Year title in a points contest designed specifically for that purpose, also led all 50-and-older players in competition points, average and earnings as the nine-event 2012 season came to an end Tuesday, Aug. 14, in Decatur, Ill.

The 52-year-old right-hander earned 163,367 competition points in nine events, easily running away from runner-up Bob Learn Jr. of Macomb, Mich., who had 114,611 points. Williams won the average title, scoring at a record 233.41 pace for 267 games to top runner-up Wayne Webb's 229.85 average and break his own record of 229.56 set during the 2011 season. And the season's only two-time title winner led the Senior Tour in earnings with $35,900, comfortably ahead of runner-up Hugh Miller's $26,850. Williams completed his sweep with 48 Player of the Year points, topping Venezuela's Amleto Monacelli's 32 points.

During his 47-title PBA Tour career, Williams was PBA Player of the Year seven times, earnings leader seven times, average leader eight times and competition points champion eight times — all PBA Tour records.

The final Senior Tour stats also showcased how close the 2012 Senior Rookie of the Year race will be. The winner of that contest will soon be determined in voting by bowling media and PBA members. The leading candidates are four players who each won one title and finished in the top 10 in all three key statistical categories:

A Summer Not Soon Forgotten

by Larry Dunn (Part 2 of 3)

INDIANAPOLIS—Ashley N. Dunn of Palmdale, CA In this second chapter of Ashley's 2012 summer bowling tournament success we take a five hour drive from the Teen Masters qualifying venue to Indianapolis, IN where the 2012 North Pointe Junior Gold Championships would be held.

The North Pointe Junior Gold National Championships (formerly the USBC Junior Gold National Championships) is an annual tournament where the nations top male and female youth bowlers compete for the title of the nations best, some significant scholarship prizes, but what motivates the majority of the participants is the chance to earn a position on the Junior Team USA squad and an opportunity to represent our nation in International competition.

July 14, 2012, just two days removed from the 34 games of Teen Masters qualifying that had taken place in Wickliffe, OH, and it was time for the nations largest youth tournament

Cal Oaks Bowl To Host Silver Certification Conference

by Frank Weiler
MURRIETA — Brunswick Cal Oaks Bowl wants to host a USBC Silver Certification Conference in October or November of this year. To do so they need 15 participants. If you are a USBC certified bronze coach and want to upgrade your coaching status or a certified silver coach who wants to audit the class, please contact Cal Oaks manager DAVE TENNEY at 951-698-2202. Cal Oaks is located at 40440 California Oaks Road in Murrieta.

A silver coaching conference costs about $450 and will be conducted over three days (Friday - Sunday). The conference will meet daily from 9AM to 5PM except Sunday until 3PM.

Cal Oaks is a “State of the Art” bowling center willing to provide the necessary lanes, conference room, and eating facilities to host such an event. This will be a great opportunity for all SoCal bronze and silver coaches to advance their coaching careers without traveling hundreds of miles to do so.

It seems that we SoCal bowlers and coaches always have to go to Vegas or Reno for major events or seminars. Not this time. So lets support Cal Oaks effort to support us. Remember, silver coaches will be welcome to audit the class.

Coaches, how about letting the BOWLING NEWS know that you are grateful for this great publication supporting you and the great sport of bowling.

Carlotta Westbrooke Remembered

NORWALK — We at the Bowling News were saddened to hear of the passing of Mrs. Carlotta Westbrooke on August 13. She was a longtime member of WIBC, ABC, USBC and TNBA.

Our condolences to her husband James, and her daughters Bridgette, Jacqueline and Brenda.

A celebration of life was held August 20th.

DARRON PETERS And SENG TONG Are Scratch Doubles Champions

by Frank Weiler and Therese Lloyd
MURRIETA — Darron Peters and Seng Tong rode their top seed position in the 430 Scratch Doubles step ladder finals to a CAL OAK’S league title the other night. They won the two game total pin title match convincingly, 818 to 761 over KEVIN STAPP and SCOTT FILIPI.

The champions told us that each lane was different, with the left lane on the championship pair having no hold area. The dry backend made it impossible to keep the ball in play. Darron used his Storm Natural to try and deal with the desert, but to no avail. No one could double because of lane 29. As a result, the match was close to middle of the second game. Then fatigue set in and our runner-ups started to make mistakes. Remember, Scott and Kevin were our fifth seed and had to bowl eight games and win four previous matches to make it to the finals and games nine and ten.

The five match step ladder finals were contested on five different pairs of lanes, with each match winner moving to another pair of lanes to bowl against the next higher seed.

The first match of the night saw our eventual second place finishers defeat FRANK WEILER and JOHN SOWELL 859 to 729. Sowell was the only lefty in the final field, but he could never get lined up. He tried a number of bowling balls, but none would finish with authority, on the right lane. The lopsided result was a surprise because both Weiler and Sowell were previous league champions, and were a strong favorite. Their past successes counted for nothing this time around.

The second match of the night saw Scott and Kevin defeat former PBA star DON MOSER and partner BRIENT KILLINGS 854 to 786. Filipi’s first game 256 gave his team a 54 pin lead that Moser and company could not overcome.

The third match saw BRANDON JENKINS fire the nights high game (267) to stake his team to a forty pin lead. The second game of the match saw the roof cave in on “Team Jenkins” (dad Steve and son Brandon) as they scored 368 to the 464 posted by Filpi and Stapp. The final match score was 880 to 824 in favor of our eventual runner-ups.

The fourth and semifinal match saw Filipi and Stapp defeat RICK AUSTIN and LARRY CLAY 840 to 822. It was the closest match of the night and went down to the tenth frame of game two. Larry Clay could have won it with a tenth frame double, but could only manage a strike and spare. Larry averaged 223 for the two games, but it wasn’t enough.

Filipi and Stapp averaged 219 for the ten games they bowled, but they had to settle for second place because they scored just under 200 each in the title match. While Peters and Tong were able to win the title match averaging just 202, they clearly dominated the league. They won two of the three blocks and won nearly fifty points more than any other team. Our congratulations go out to the champions and thanks to the BOWLING NEWS for taking note.

Two 900 Near Misses at Classic

by L.H. Wheeler

NORCO — Based on the opinions of another writer on his description of Jimmy Schmitzer's 847 being a near miss for a repeat of his 900 series, then tonight at Classic Lanes in Norco would qualify as two near misses on the same pair at the same time.

Near miss number one was provided by lefty Kevin Gagnon. He was called in to sub on the Viva Las Vegas league Sunday night. He didn't disappoint the team he was filling in for by rolling 300 – 239 – 289 for an impressive 828 series. While his score didn't quite match up to Schmitzer's 847, the total amount of strikes thrown did. He only missed on 4 shots, leaving a 6-pin and three 7-pins en route to his series. The only difference between the two was that Kevin's misses almost all came in the second game. What makes his effort stand out even more, was that he was throwing his 25 year old Columbia U-Dot bowling ball. That's right, a couple decades old, urethane bowling ball with a pancake weight block. When asked why he was throwing something so "outdated", he replied that "I was just trying to give myself a little more of a challenge. The lanes and scoring had been getting too easy, so I thought I would try something different. I guess it worked!" After tonight's effort, Kevin is now carrying a 247.75 average through 12 games of subbing. He is currently "taking the summer off" and is just filling in when someone asks him to. Not too bad for not bowling regularly.

Near miss number two was provided by the combination of Kevin and teammate Mike Howell Sr. After Kevin's 300 in game one, Mike continued the string in game two by rolling his first ever 300 game. Once that was completed, a few other bowlers were asking who was going to be next. After the first frame, the only one with a strike was Kevin and he continued all the way to the 11th frame where a stubborn 7-pin derailed the chance to see three consecutive 300 games between different bowlers. Mike & Kevin combined for a 300 – 300 – 289 = 889 set. I don't think that's any type of record, but pretty impressive nonetheless, unless you ask any member of the opposing team. I don't think they appreciated having such high scores shot against them too much.

Mike Howell added a 232 and a 245 in his first and third games respectively for a very nice 777 set. I've been told that this is his current personal best. With that score (and this being a Vegas league), perhaps he should just head to Vegas to try his luck out there. Anyway, congrats to Mike on his first 300 and congrats to the two of you for putting on the show you did this evening. It was fun watching it!

The Perfect Game

by Steve Felege (sponsorship by Carol Mancini)

Carol: I was talking to one of my friends this week and he told me that if this column is going to be successful, we need to get serious. He said we needed more coaching advice and less goofing off!
Steve: I couldn't agree more. Pick a tough one!

Carol: This one is from J. Davis, a Sgt. in the U.S Army. His question is, let's just say, unusual. Are you ready?

Steve: I'm always ready. Let's hear it.

Carol: "Mr. Felege, from a military standpoint, who would be your greatest adversary, and why?"

Steve: Interesting question, Carol, but not really a difficult one. Militarily speaking, bowling is a battle and the duty of any soldier is to win battles or die trying. In that light, there are actually three people I would never challenge because they would prove to be impossible to beat. Johnny Petraglia, Mark Roth, Norm Duke, Walter Ray Williams, even Earl "The Pearl", on their very best days, wouldn't have stood a chance against any of the following threesome.

Carol: And they are?

Steve: Kreskin, Sue Richards, and of course, Michio Kaku.

Carol: Never heard of 'em.

Steve: Well of course you haven't. They don't bowl!

Carol: Steve, are you on something?

Steve: No,.....relax and I'll explain.

Carol: This better be good!

Steve: Your friend wants serious coaching advice? Well, here it is! Never, never, ever compete against any of these three! They are probably among the worst bowlers you'll ever see, but they can't be beaten! Militarily speaking, make them allies, not adversaries!

Carol: Well, it's been fun doing this article with you, but.....

Steve: Hold on a minute, Carol. Before you have me committed to "rehab", consider the first one, Kreskin, or, if you prefer, "The Amazing" Kreskin. He is a mentalist. He can control physical objects using the power of his mind. How are you going to win against someone who simply throws a ball down a lane and all ten pins fall down every time; sometimes before the ball even gets to them?

Carol: I see your point, but who is this Sue Richards chick?

Steve: Ah! Sue Richards, a.k.a. "The Invisible Girl".

Carol: Got it! If she leaves any pins, she just turns invisible, walks down the lane and knocks them over. Right?

Steve: No, that would be a foul. Sue would never cheat; she's a superhero for heaven's sake! She would just make her husband invisible. His neck can easily stretch over one hundred feet and he can just blow the pins over. I don't think there's a rule against that.

Carol: You may be right; I'll look into it. Now, who's this Kaku guy?

Steve: Michio Kaku is one the most brilliant people on this planet. He actually understands Einstein's theories.

Carol: So?

Steve: So.... if anyone is going to invent a "time machine", it's Mr. Kaku.

Carol: How will a time machine make him unbeatable?

Steve: Picture this Carol, a match between you and Michio Kaku is arranged to raise funds for charity. Just for fun, let's say it's for the Championship of the Known Bowling Universe.

Carol: I get the picture.

Steve: Okay, you're at Del Rio Lanes, all warmed up and ready to go....but Michio is nowhere to be seen. He's stuck somewhere in the future, probably studying some newly discovered substringing theory. You, on the other hand, are wondering if you are about to win the championship by default. You glance at your watch and, as you do, someone taps you on the shoulder and says, "Excuse me." You turn to find yourself face-to-face with an unassuming, gray-haired gentleman in a suit and tie.

He says, "Hello! My name is Michio Kaku and I'm here to win the Championship of the Known Bowling Universe."Being the sportswoman you are, you politely ask if he would like to roll a few practice shots. To your surprise, he says, "No thank you, that won't be necessary." Then he asks, "What do I need to do?" Is he just messing with your head? No, he's dead serious! So you explain that he needs to roll a ball down the lanes and knock down all ten pins. He nods his head then asks, "Which ball should I use?"

You respond that he may use whichever one he likes best. You glance at the trophy. It's pure gold, embellished with diamonds, emeralds and rubies. You can almost see your name engraved across its base: CAROL MANCINI---"Champion of the Known Bowling Universe".

You think to yourself that it's as good as yours; this poor sap doesn't stand a chance. You couldn't be more wrong! Michio insists that ladies go first. He's a gentleman! As you prepare to deliver your first shot, you glance back at Mr. Kaku and notice that he's writing something strange on a napkin. It's a mathematical equation that looks like a very long curse word from a comic strip. You face the pins, deliver your first shot and the ball slams the pocket; WHAM! Ten in the pit! You cross over to the other lane and repeat your process: WHAM! Uh-oh, ten pin. Oh well, you pick up the spare and sit down to watch the fun. Mr. Kaku sets his napkin down and steps up onto the approach.

He picks up YOUR ball, studies it for a few seconds, then asks what the holes are for. It's all you can do to keep from laughing. Talk about a divine comedy! Then he walks up to the foul line and with his feet spread apart, swings the ball between his legs with both hands and rolls it toward the pins. To everybody's surprise, the ball avoids the channels. When it returns, three pins are missing. He picks the ball up from the return and goes back to the foul line. He makes a minor adjustment to the position of the ball in his hands and makes another shot. This time it hits the head pin dead on. You look up at the scoreboard: C. Mancini=20, M. Kaku=8.

Now things get weird. He just smiles and says, "Okay, I think I've got it." He picks up his napkin and studies it for a moment. What he removes from his pocket looks like a cell phone, but you're not that lucky. He punches in some numbers and poof! He disappears. You stand up and look around. Where did he go? What's going on? You look up at the scoreboard which now reads: C. Mancini=20, M. Kaku= ? It's blank! It's as if he hasn't bowled yet! You glance at your watch and, as you do, someone taps you on the shoulder and says, "Excuse me." You turn to find yourself face-to-face with an unassuming, gray-haired gentleman in a suit and tie. He says, "Hello! My name is Michio Kaku and I'm here to win the Championship of the Known Bowling Universe."

It's just like the movie, "Groundhog Day." Suddenly, you understand that no matter what you do, this kind and friendly gentleman will just keep looping back around in time until all his frames are filled with strikes. You look back at that beautiful trophy and subconsciously, you wave goodbye to it.

Carol: If you call this serious coaching.....we're doomed.

Steve: Didn't you get the message?

Carol: What message?

Steve: If you want to be a successful bowler, you have a choice. You can learn and practice good skills, or you can rely on your powers of telepathy, invisibility, or time travel. That's pretty good coaching advice in my opinion.

Carol: Hunh! That is pretty good!

to begin. The tournament offered $250,000 in total scholarship awards, positions on Junior Team USA and the newly formed Developmental Junior Team USA, and of course the titles of Junior Gold National Champion in both U15 and U20 Boys & Girls Divisions. In addition there was also the opportunity to earn a free entry into the Team USA Trials held in January of each year where positions on both Junior and Team USA awarded.

Day one and the battle begins for Title of North Pointe Junior Gold U15 Girls National Champion. The champion would be determined through a 16 bracket best of two games total pin fall double elimination format. The top 16 positioning within the brackets would be determined by total pin fall from 25 games comprised of five game blocks. The first three blocks would each be bowled on a different WTBA sport pattern. The fourth and fifth block would both be bowled on the same pattern, but a different pattern from the previous 3 blocks. A cut from 99 to 24 would be made after the first 15 games (three qualifying blocks), so it would be important to get off to a good start. The next and final cut would come after the fifth block, as the remaining 24 girls would use the fourth and fifth blocks to position themselves within the top 16 for the double elimination bracket matches.

After the first five game qualifying block Ashley found herself in 1st place with a 199.8 average, a far better start than her previous two appearances at Junior Gold Nationals. She was off to a great start, but the competition was much more fierce than anticipated, with the top 16 scores bunched tightly together. Day two, and five games later Ashley found herself now in 2nd place with an overall average of 194.10 and 57 pins out of first. After the first 10 games the top five girls had began to separate themselves from the rest of the field, so at least at this point making the top 16 still looked very promising.

Day three, five more games and Ashley had dominated the field in this last block prior to the cut to 24. Ashley was firmly back in 1st place by averaging 218.8 for the block, and bringing her 15 game overall average to 202.33. Ashley was the only girl in the U15 Division averaging 200 or more at this point, and had the 4th highest 15 game total pin fall of all girls in either the U15 or U20 Division. This was a significant accomplishment in that by leading after 15 games of qualifying in the U15 Division she had not only survived the first cut, but earned an automatic spot on the Junior Gold Developmental Team. Additionally, it was the first 15 games of qualifying that determined the winners of the free entries into the 2013 Team USA Trials at Sunset Station during January in Las Vegas, and Ashley easily won the entry valued at $350. Two major accomplishments now regardless of the final outcome of the tournament. Things were looking good.

Day four, and another change of pattern and two five game blocks today, one in the morning and another in the evening. After the morning block Ashley had held on to 1st place even though she had bowled her worst five game block of the tournament dropping her overall 20 game average to 195.95. Fortunately for her this new pattern had proved to be troublesome for the majority of the field as well, but the top 5 no longer enjoyed their large distance from the remainder of the field. It was apparent that the 5th and final block for positioning within the 16 brackets would be intense. Five games later and the brackets were set, as suggested it had been intense, with several positions changing. Although Ashley had handled the pattern much better than the previous five games, a few of the other girls had got locked in and she found herself entering the brackets as the #3 seed with an overall 25 game average of 193.04

Day five, the final showdown about to unfold on yet another sport pattern. Ashley begins a steady march through her first three matches, four straight places you in the Championship match, but she had ran into another talented and determined young lady in match four, Breanna Clemmer from Clover, SC was on a mission of her own and handed Ashley her first defeat sending Ashley to the Contenders brackets where she was still just one win away from the Championship match. Ashley was determined to not let it end there and won a hard fought battle by just 10 pins in a two game total pin fall match, yes a real nail biter, but she had done it, she was now in the Championship match having to face the only challenger that had defeated her once again. Both girls nerves seemed to be showing as they began the battle on the Bowl TV broadcast pair, it was evident from their scores. In the first game they had traded the lead back an forth with neither girl capable of getting into a rhythm, but Ashley came out on the losing end by just a few pins. The second and final game of the match would prove to not be much different, perhaps their nerves even more of a factor knowing that the title was getting closer and closer for one of them with each frame.

In a hard fought battle that ended in a match score of 339-369 in favor of Breanna Clemmer, Ashley would have to settle for being known as the second best U15 Girl in the Nation for 2012. Second best in the Nation.....that's not too bad now is it! Ashley finished the tournament having bowled 37 games, in 3 different bowling centers, on five different sport patterns with an average of 193.11. Ashley also earned a $3,000 scholarship from the USBC for her efforts. Ashley would like to congratulate her new friend Breanna Clemmer on her victory! I would like to congratulate Ashley on keeping her poise and never giving up. Remember that one tournament does not make your career, and that your successes and failures in the sport do not define you as a person. Words cannot express how proud I am to be your father! We are all very proud of you!

We would also like to thank the California Bowling News again for publishing Ashley's accomplishments, and a very special thank you to Coach Ken Clay for the extra work he did with Ashley when Mark wasn't available during preparation for this tournament.

Bowling News is proud to bring you....

Chuck Pezzano

Dean of Bowling Writers, PBA & USBC Hall of Fame

How did this thing called bowling begin?

It was many years before once upon a time. There was this shepherd who was bored by the monotony of tending sheep. So he began to amuse himself by throwing rocks. But simply tossing rocks led to more monotony.

When he was on the verge of developing rocks in the head he made his game more difficult. He began to throw rocks at birds. But he never hit any because the birds were too quick. So now he was not only bored, but frustrated too. In disgust he hurled a rock at one of the wayward sheep. He missed, then tried again. It was fun.

It wasn't too long before he began hitting the sheep. But alas, sheep don't take to getting hit by rocks very well, and soon he had a sheep carcass on his hands.

He couldn't let it go to waste so the shepherd gluttoned on mutton, and then only the bones remained. Too stuffed and too lazy to move, he tossed the sheep bones into the air. As fate would have it, two of the bones stuck in the soft earth. The target was much too inviting for the shepherd so he found himself a rock and rolled it at the sheep bones. He missed.

He rolled another rock, missed again, and began to get mad. Then he knocked a bone down. He was happy. He retrieved his rocks and set up the bones again. His monotonous life had ended, and the first bowler was born.

And you know, every time a new bowler picks up a bowling ball for the first time, he's in the same boat as that shepherd who didn't know what to do when he started throwing rocks in the air.

All new bowlers are not as eager as the shepherd to find new ways to alleviate the monotony of life. Many people are bored at tending their flock, whether it is sheep, children, people, business or anything else. They don't want to end up with rocks in their head, so they try bowling.

Not long after his first experience with the rocks and the bones, the shepherd smoothed his playing court, fashioned a pattern on which to place the sheep bones, and kept at it, making his game more and more interesting. The people who take up bowling these days won't be forced to do what the shepherd had to do to enjoy his newly found game.

There is an innate lure in bowling. There is a challenge. There is enjoyment and fun and competition.

But, in bowling, particularly for beginners, there is also ignorance of the sport. There is oft times a challenge too great, one that leads to frustration, or too little of a challenge. Like the shepherd who couldn't hit the birds, new bowlers don't want to miss the pins all the time, nor do they want to knock them all down too easily.

New and old bowlers need continuous encouragement. They need mental and physical help and instruction from everyone connected with the game, other bowlers, proprietors, officials.

Many won't stick to it the way the shepherd did. Many will give up without much of a struggle. Too many people have given up bowling for the wrong reasons.

If all the people who bowled in the past 20 years who are still able to bowl were still bowling, all the lanes in the country would be going the better part of 24 hours a day.

That's a worthy goal if there ever was one, but if we take a cue from that first shepherd, it can be done, because there are plenty of shepherds out there we have never reached.

And just as once upon a time is a long time ago so is forever a long time in the future.

LAS VEGAS TRAVEL LEAGUE

by Vi Wilson

LAKEWOOD—The Las Vegas Travel League kicked off the 2012/13 season at Cal Bowl on Monday, August 20. We are very thankful to Ginny and staff for their support and help with the first day of our return to Cal Bowl. Rules and season schedules were distributed to the teams.

While the return to bowling after a summer break found many of the bowlers a little rusty, Ora McCormick was the high roller of the day with a nice 542 series and a 201 game. Other bowlers finding the groove were Joy Bennett with a nice 522 series, closely followed by Maxx Paul with 521/204, Ella Wilson 516, Darlene Hom 508 and Cil Moons with an even 500.

Westminister #1 rolled the high series of the day with a nice 2015. High team game of the day went to Westminister 2 with a 703. The top six teams are all tied after week one with 3 wins each.

The league learned that Nan McGill is very ill and will not be returning. She sent us a heartfelt message which was delivered by Jan Jones. A card signed by all the bowlers and $160 was contributed to help the family who have come in to be with Nan. Our prayers go out to Nan and the family. She is missed by all of us.

ROCKY MARSH TRIOS TEAM #18 “MAKE IT HAPPEN”

DID JUST THAT... CONGRATS TO THE CHAMPS!!

by Joy McGregor

ANAHEIM — The Gold was captured by the team of Rich Heid, Gloria Ferrulli and super anchor, Juan San-doval. This “Happenin” team has been ‘above the fold’ all season and have had a target on their backs since week 6, becoming THE team to beat. They gelled as a team and worked hard for the win so kudos to you!!

Team #1 (Don Gut-Omen, E.J. Rogers & James Blythe) came within a mere 5 1/2 games of the coup but alas, not to be and were awarded the Silver. Congratulations to both teams for a hard-fought season! Super sub, John Conway, proved why he is a “Super” sub - he’s earned it as evidenced by his games of 213-279-204 and 289 to post a “super” 985 set. Fantastic performance John!

Terry Brent has been oh-so steady all season long and even these ‘dawg daze’ of summer have not affected him in the least; he’s as determined as ever to give his all. Terry delivered the following: 182-278-235 and 231 to post 926. His consistent performance throughout the season helped power his team to a 3rd place finish. Way to go “Lefty”!

Don Boaz delivered his best performance Friday morn-ing and opened the coveted 900 Club door on games of 209-192-259 and 266 to register a fine 921. Nice show-ing Don. Frank Bellinder has come on strong the past few weeks and this Friday was no exception. Frank stroked 225-191-“299” (‘stubborn’ 5 pin) for 715 and 907.

More HOT scores: Jerry Roddam 257/891, Eric Kim 246/887, Dick McKenzie 236/869, Don Gardner 231/859, James Blythe 234/858, Juan Sandoval 279/852, Tony Chaco 226/848, Larry Green 257/846, Mark Guillaume 236/828, Shig Shoji 217/822, Rey Ortiz 225/820, Ron Douglass 212/817, Steve Sparks 209/812, Nancy Smith 233/806, Rose Williams 234/804, Mike West 205/805, Rita Sparks 255, Fred Voysey 237, Norm Walker 236, Jim Moore 235, Orlando Vanegas 235, Chris Munoz 235, Rod Cantrell 234, Aaron Wilson 233, Gino Vassallo 226, Ron Marcus 226, E.J.
